New Cuban Port Called Camouflage

U.S. Sources See It As Naval Base, Threat To Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. defense sources said today they believe the port to be built in Cuba with Soviet assistance is a camouflage for a naval base which could threaten the Panama Canal.

They said a port equipped to overhaul, repair, and supply Soviet and Cuban trawlers could also serve as a support base for submarines and torpedo boats.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro unveiled the plans for a port in a television speech Tuesday. He didn't specify the location but a later communique announcing signing of the Soviet-Cuban agreement said the dock and facilities for between 115 and 130 medium trawlers would be in Havana Bay.

It was reported in Havana that Soviet crews would instruct Cubans in the use of Soviet trawlers and that the fleet ultimately would become the property of Cuba.

Many of the Soviet Union's 3,000 trawlers are anything but purely fishing craft. They are known to carry radar and other electronic equipment with which they have monitored U.S. missile test shots from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and have observed U.S. fleet maneuvers.

The small flotilla of Soviet trawlers which arrived in Havana last summer is equipped with electronic detection equipment.

Some military authorities said construction of a Soviet port in Cuba appears part of a worldwide plan to position Soviet naval power where it could pinch off key Allied shipping routes.

Cuban Propagandists Hail Pact With Soviet

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban propagandists hailed today Prime Minister Fidel Castro's pact with the Soviet Union calling for building a fishing port for Russian trawlers in Havana Bay.

Castro announced the pact Tuesday, saying the Russians would furnish credits for building large docking and freezing facilities. He said the Soviet trawler fleet would have use of the facilities for at least 10 years.

Castro said in a television address the port facilities would provide headquarters for a joint

Aim At $3.9 Million In Taxes

Tax Agents Stage Drive To Seize Fight Proceeds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of federal revenue officers fanned out across the country Tuesday night and this morning in a massive drive to seize the entire proceeds of the Liston-Patterson heavyweight title fight.

The aim was to collect $3.9 million in taxes which the government claims is owed by the fight promoters.

The Internal Revenue Service announced that officers moved in Tuesday night on about 260 theaters throughout the country which collected an estimated $4 million from patrons who watched Sonny Liston win the heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson. The fight was telecast over a closed-circuit network.

The theaters were instructed to turn over all receipts from the TV show to IRS.

Other agents, in an unprecedented move, served levies against the promoters of the fight and the organizers of the TV showings, demanding that all receipts be handed over to the government.

Thus, IRS acted to grab the entire gate receipts from the one-round bout at Chicago's Comiskey Park, as well as fees paid by the American Broadcasting Co. for rights to cover the fight via radio.

If IRS collects as much as it expects, it will receive an estimated $5 million or more. However, it would have to refund part of this amount later to the promoters and TV organizers because tax claims total a lesser amount—$3,885,000.

Part of the drive had come to light Tuesday night through the serving of papers at various points over the country.

Not until today, however, did IRS headquarters disclose the full scope of the operation.

One result of the action, personally ordered by IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin, presumably will be to freeze the purses earned by Liston and Patterson until the tax liabilities of the promoters are determined and settled. This could take many months and perhaps more than a year.

Another possible result could be the filing of injunction suits against IRS by the theaters involved or the promoters, on the basis of possible claims that IRS acted without proper cause.

In explaining why it acted, IRS said, without elaboration, that "records show that none of the corporations connected with the Chicago fight have filed tax returns" on their operations last year—the year they were organized. The IRS announcement added:

"In addition, certain aspects of the financial arrangements for this particular fight caused Internal Revenue to believe that special steps should be taken to insure the payment of all taxes due by all parties concerned."

Officials declined to give further details. But one official reported that many of the individuals controlling the corporations that promoted the fight were involved in the 1961 heavyweight title bout in which Patterson regained the championship from Ingemar Johansson. After that fight, IRS acted to tie up Johansson's purse, which approached $1 million, on the basis of a claim that he owed more than $1 million

High Winds And Floods Rip Villages

Government Says 246 Bodies Found; Toll Might Rise

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Flash floods and hurricane winds ripped overnight through a group of villages in a hilly region near Barcelona and a government spokesman said more than 600 persons are dead or missing.

The spokesman said 246 bodies have been recovered and 395 persons are unaccounted for.

Fresh thunderstorms continued across the area, where several hours of heavy rain and high winds smashed many homes and other buildings.

Officials said the death toll might rise.

Several villages, whose residents normally worked in textile plants near Barcelona, were almost wiped out by the floods, which followed months of dry weather.

The floods struck a few hours after the windup of a Barcelona religious festival, named Nuestra Senora de la Merced—Our Lady of Mercy—which runs for a week each fall. The event had included a song festival with entrants from many nations.

The victims included families who were sleeping. Their houses caved in and trapped them under the debris.

Barcelona was caught in a torrential downpour which quickly flooded the Ripoll and San Quirico rivers.

Rushing water toppled buildings and roared through streets.

Similar floods struck nearby towns.

At first, Barcelona people welcomed the rain because it was the first in nearly four months. But the downpour continued and about midnight people living in downtown districts began climbing to the highest stories of buildings trying to escape the swirling waters.

Many of Barcelona's two million inhabitants were breadless because bakeries were flooded. The drinking water was lacking in many districts.

U.S. May Use Troops

Negro Will Try Again To Enroll

BULLETIN
OXFORD, Miss (AP) Officers turned back Negro James H. Meredith at a gate to the campus of the University of Mississippi today.

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—With the possibility mounting that federal troops will be used to enforce court desegregation edicts, Negro James H. Meredith plans to try today for the third time to enroll at the white University of Mississippi.

Gov. Ross Barnett—who has twice defied federal orders in refusing to let Meredith enroll at Ole Miss—was expected to fly to the campus at Oxford and attempt to block the 29-year-old Korean war veteran's admission.

Barnett refused to allow Meredith to register with the State College Board at Jackson Tuesday. Four hours later the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directed the 64-year-old governor to appear in court in New Orleans Friday to face contempt charges.

Ole Miss registrar Robert B. Ellis said he would be in his office to register Meredith if he appeared.

Ellis said he would act under direct orders from the State College Board and federal courts.

A source close to the Appeals Court in New Orleans said it appeared federal troops would be necessary to enforce the judicial decrees.

Troops from the 101st Airborne Division were ordered into Little Rock, Ark., to enforce court-directed public school desegregation there in 1957. The federal action came after Gov. Orval E. Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to prevent nine Negroes from enrolling at Little Rock Central High School.

In Washington, Justice Department sources said the department was determined to carry through with Meredith's enrollment. They refused to forecast the department's next moves but they did not rule out the use of federal troops.

Barnett brushed aside a directive from the circuit court restraining him and virtually all of the state's peace officers from

Judge Delays Estes' Trial Till Oct. 22

Major Witnesses Aren't Available, Attorneys Claim

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—It will be at least another four weeks before Billie Sol Estes, onetime tycoon of farm finance, goes before a jury on criminal charges.

Acting on a defense motion, Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan postponed the trial Tuesday until Oct. 22.

Estes' lawyers contended that too many major witnesses were not available. They said 28 of 75 persons sought to testify for the bankrupt West Texas promoter had not been subpoenaed or could not appear.

The delay means a corresponding lag in efforts by the U.S. Senate investigations subcommittee to question Estes about multi-million-dollar dealings with the Agriculture Department. The subcommittee has agreed to a state request to defer the appearance of Estes until after the trial.

The trial of Estes on charges of swindling and theft was transferred here from Pecos, his home town, after efforts to obtain an unbiased jury failed three months ago.

Four indictments accuse Estes of manipulating mortgages on nonexistent chemical fertilizer tanks to obtain $378,370.

Estes also faces trial on federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy. Three former business associates have pleaded guilty to the charges and been sentenced to prison terms.

Succeeds Judge Bell

Griffith Chosen For High Court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle appointed Appellate Judge Lynn B. Griffith of Warren today to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Judge Griffith succeeds Supreme Court Judge James F. Bell of London whose recent resignation is effective Oct. 8.

Judge Griffith will serve on the high court until a successor is elected and qualified in the November election in 1964. Bell's term expires Dec. 31, 1966. His term started Jan. 1, 1961.

The new Supreme Court judge graduated from Oberlin College and received his law degree from Western Reserve University.

After practicing law in Warren, he became city solicitor and later became Trumbull County prosecutor. He was elected Common Pleas Court judge in 1930 and served for 19 years.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche appointed him to the 7th District Court of Appeals in 1950. Appellate judges last week elected Judge Griffith chief justice of Ohio Courts of Appeal for 1963.

Judge and Mrs. Griffith have two sons and a daughter. Lynn B. Jr. is Trumbull County prosecutor and the other son David, is an assistant prosecutor.

The 7th Appellate District embraces 13 counties in northeastern Ohio. This district extends from Lake and Ashtabula counties on Lake Erie to Monroe and Noble counties to the south.

Congress Due Tax Bill To Aid Business

Heart Of Measure Will Credit Firms Who Update Plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—A half-a-loaf tax bill, giving President Kennedy the business-boosting change he recommended but less than the counterbalancing revenue he asked, was ready today for Congress and the White House to consider.

There was every indication the House, the Senate and the President would accept the measure. It was hammered out in four days of work, running into Tuesday night, by a conference committee charged with reconciling the different bills passed by the two chambers. The House will act first, one day next week.

The heart of the measure, a tax credit of more than $1 billion for businesses willing to spend money on modernizing and improving their equipment, was retained. The administration has earnestly pleaded for this investment credit, designed as a quick shot in the arm for the U.S. economy and, in the long pull, as a means of helping U.S. businesses match their modernized — and tax-favored — competitors abroad.

The big casualty, doomed by the Senate, was the plan to withhold income taxes on interest and dividends. The Treasury had hoped to collect by this means as much as $780 million a year in tax revenue now lost because of nonreporting.

Theft Loot Set In Thousands

Strongarm Bandit Strikes At Weirton

WEIRTON — A bandit believed unarmed overpowered a tavern employe in North Weirton at 9:46 this morning and escaped with a bag believed to have contained several thousand dollars.

The victim, Nick Munas, 56, said he was accosted while walking north on Main St., enroute to Tassey's Tavern from the Bank of Weirton.

Munas, a part-time employe of the tavern, owned by Frank Tassey, said the strongarm robber "jammed him against a wall" and fled with the brown paper bag. The bag was torn in the scuffle, he told police.

The thief then fled across a Weirton Steel Co. parking lot and escaped in a waiting car. Police said the attacker was seen headed north on State Route 2 with a passenger.

Munas told police he was unable to determine the amount of cash in the bag, but reports indicated the loss was several thousand dollars, apparently to be used in cashing checks of steelworkers on payday today.

The victim said the thief escaped in a light colored Ford. Hancock County sheriff's deputies set up roadblocks.

Drive Against Polio

Hancock May Participate In Mass Immunization

A decision on whether Hancock County will participate in a mass polio immunization program in November in the upper Ohio Valley may be reached Oct. 4.

Six counties in Ohio and West Virginia have agreed to participate in the mass oral polio immunization program which shapes up as one of the largest in geographical area ever covered in the U. S.

The total number of persons that would be eligible to receive dosages of the Sabine vaccine in the large area would be in the neighborhood of 500,000, according to a physician handling preparatory details.

Counties assured of taking part thus far include Brooke, Ohio and Marshall in West Virginia, and Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison in Ohio. Another county in the Buckeye state — Guernsey — may also participate.

Wheeling sponsors said Tuesday Hancock County "was strongly considering participation and will definitely come to a decision in the near future."

But Norman Ferrari of Weirton, president of the Hancock County Board of Health, said no decision has been reached on whether or not the county will participate.

Queried today, Ferrari said "the proposal has been discussed briefly, but no decision has been reached. The board may reach a decision at a meeting Oct. 4 in New Cumberland, but we want first to give the proposal a good, long look."

The Board of Health was organized as a non - partisan body July 1 and has control of the County Health Department.

Meanwhile, the Ohio County Medical Association in Wheeling is going ahead with plans for the mass immunization, and a spokesman said that Types I and II of the vaccine will be administered in November at no cost to the recipient.

He added that Type III will be given only in "high risk" cases to persons under 18 sometime during February 1963.

Each county involved in the campaign will have at least one center for between 8,000 and 10,000 persons at a location that will provide the most ideal facilities.

All three types of the Sabin vaccine were administered in Columbiana County earlier this year.

Suspect In Unsolved Murder Is Released

BEAVER—Clarence Burroughs, 40, of Rochester Township, charged with the murder of William (Duke) Snyder, 52, of Wampum R. D. 2, was released from Beaver County Jail Tuesday for lack of evidence.

His released was ordered by Judge Robert E. McCreary in a hearing on a writ of habeas of corpus instituted by the court-appointed attorney for Burroughs.

The district attorney's office said it could not prove that a crime had been committed.

Snyder has been missing since Aug. 12. Burroughs confessed and later denied that he threw Snyder's body in the Ohio River after a fight. Searches have failed to turn up any body.

Passed By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill appropriating $38 million for fallout shelter research and surveys.

Voter Totals Reflect Gain

Registration Drive Concludes Tonight

A net gain of 21 East Liverpool voters was recorded by the County Election Board Tuesday as its campaign to register unqualified city voters neared an end.

The deadline to register for the Nov. 6 election is tonight at 10 with the board's office on W. 6th St. and branch registration centers at North Side fire station, Louis-James Store on Mulberry St. and Pleasant Heights School remaining open until the deadline.

Forty - five new registrations were made by the board in the 12-hour period its office was open yesterday, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

However, the names of 24 deceased persons were removed from the rolls, making the net increase 21. It boosted the qualified voters to 10,109.

The board also listed 19 transfers yesterday by persons who have changed their addresses since the last time they voted, O'Hanlon said.

East Liverpool is the only subdivision in the county where registration is required.

Injured Survivors Of Ditch Plane

British Copters Pluck 17 Off Swiss Rescue Vessel

CORK, Ireland (AP)—Two British helicopters plucked 17 injured survivors of a ditched American airliner off the Swiss rescue ship Celerina today for hospitalization at a U.S. Air Force base in Britain.

The 9,041-ton freighter, still carrying 27 others it rescued after a Flying Tiger Super Constellation plunged into the white-capped Atlantic with 76 persons Sunday night, headed on to Antwerp, Belgium, its next port of call.

The U.S. Army in Europe prepared to send medical and other aid to Antwerp for the group, American service men and their wives, whose flight from the United States ended with a forced landing in the sea 500 miles west of Ireland.

The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which is bearing four other survivors, radioed that it expects to reach the Shannon River estuary about 9 a.m. Thursday. The carrier originally planned to arrive late today, but said it was running low on fuel and had to reduce speed.

Of the 76 aboard the plane, 28 were dead or missing and presumed drowned. Twelve bodies have been recovered. The search for further survivors was called off Tuesday night.

Many of those who lived through the ditching were suffering from chemical burns, a skin inflamation caused by contact with gasoline which spilled into the sea when the plane was wrenched apart. There was no fire.

The Celerina had radioed that some of the 44 persons it picked up needed to be taken to shore hospitals quickly.

The hazardous air-sea operation by the two Royal Air Force helicopters centered 30 miles off the Irish coast.

Thirsty Thieves Get 17 Fifths At Tavern

Thirsty thieves continue to plague police and tavern owners. A proprietor of a Dresden Ave. bar notified police this morning 17 fifths of whisky were stolen.

Roy Blinn, 1148 Mick Rd., Wellsville, notified Patrolmen W. A. Devon and Orin C. Smith that the bottles of assorted liquor and a $2 roll of nickels were missing when he opened this morning.

CP Drive Nets $1,783 With Reports Still Due

With some areas yet to report, a total of $1,783.63 was collected in East Liverpool and Chester during the "53-Minute March" Tuesday evening for the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, county co-ordinator for the campaign, said $1,491.71 was collected in East Liverpool and $291.92 in Chester.

The drive is sponsored by the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. About 500 women in the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and the Columbiana County area participated.

Frank Fluno Jr. is chairman for the drive. Newell's solicitation will be held Saturday.

The 9,041-ton freighter, still carrying 27 others it rescued after a Flying Tiger Super Constellation plunged into the white-capped Atlantic with 76 persons Sunday night, headed on to Antwerp, Belgium, its next port of call.

The U.S. Army in Europe prepared to send medical and other aid to Antwerp for the group, American service men and their wives, whose flight from the United States ended with a forced landing in the sea 500 miles west of Ireland.

The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which is bearing four other survivors, radioed that it expects to reach the Shannon River estuary about 9 a.m. Thursday. The carrier originally planned to arrive late today, but said it was running low on fuel and had to reduce speed.

Of the 76 aboard the plane, 28 were dead or missing and presumed drowned. Twelve bodies have been recovered. The search for further survivors was called off Tuesday night.

Many of those who lived through the ditching were suffering from chemical burns, a skin inflamation caused by contact with gasoline which spilled into the sea when the plane was wrenched apart. There was no fire.

The Celerina had radioed that some of the 44 persons it picked up needed to be taken to shore hospitals quickly.

The hazardous air-sea operation by the two Royal Air Force helicopters centered 30 miles off the Irish coast.

Thirsty Thieves Get 17 Fifths At Tavern

Thirsty thieves continue to plague police and tavern owners. A proprietor of a Dresden Ave. bar notified police this morning 17 fifths of whisky were stolen.

Roy Blinn, 1148 Mick Rd., Wellsville, notified Patrolmen W. A. Devon and Orin C. Smith that the bottles of assorted liquor and a $2 roll of nickels were missing when he opened this morning.

Congress Due Tax Bill To Aid Business

Heart Of Measure Will Credit Firms Who Update Plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—A half-a-loaf tax bill, giving President Kennedy the business-boosting change he recommended but less than the counterbalancing revenue he asked, was ready today for Congress and the White House to consider.

There was every indication the House, the Senate and the President would accept the measure. It was hammered out in four days of work, running into Tuesday night, by a conference committee charged with reconciling the different bills passed by the two chambers. The House will act first, one day next week.

The heart of the measure, a tax credit of more than $1 billion for businesses willing to spend money on modernizing and improving their equipment, was retained. The administration has earnestly pleaded for this investment credit, designed as a quick shot in the arm for the U.S. economy and, in the long pull, as a means of helping U.S. businesses match their modernized — and tax-favored — competitors abroad.

The big casualty, doomed by the Senate, was the plan to withhold income taxes on interest and dividends. The Treasury had hoped to collect by this means as much as $780 million a year in tax revenue now lost because of nonreporting.

CP Drive Nets $1,783 With Reports Still Due

With some areas yet to report, a total of $1,783.63 was collected in East Liverpool and Chester during the "53-Minute March" Tuesday evening for the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Richard G. Brian of East Liverpool, county co-ordinator for the campaign, said $1,491.71 was collected in East Liverpool and $291.92 in Chester.

The drive is sponsored by the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association. About 500 women in the East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and the Columbiana County area participated.

Frank Fluno Jr. is chairman for the drive. Newell's solicitation will be held Saturday.

High Winds And Floods Rip Villages

Government Says 246 Bodies Found; Toll Might Rise

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Flash floods and hurricane winds ripped overnight through a group of villages in a hilly region near Barcelona and a government spokesman said more than 600 persons are dead or missing.

The spokesman said 246 bodies have been recovered and 395 persons are unaccounted for.

Fresh thunderstorms continued across the area, where several hours of heavy rain and high winds smashed many homes and other buildings.

Officials said the death toll might rise.

Several villages, whose residents normally worked in textile plants near Barcelona, were almost wiped out by the floods, which followed months of dry weather.

The floods struck a few hours after the windup of a Barcelona religious festival, named Nuestra Senora de la Merced—Our Lady of Mercy—which runs for a week each fall. The event had included a song festival with entrants from many nations.

The victims included families who were sleeping. Their houses caved in and trapped them under the debris.

Barcelona was caught in a torrential downpour which quickly flooded the Ripoll and San Quirico rivers.

Rushing water toppled buildings and roared through streets.

Similar floods struck nearby towns.

At first, Barcelona people welcomed the rain because it was the first in nearly four months. But the downpour continued and about midnight people living in downtown districts began climbing to the highest stories of buildings trying to escape the swirling waters.

Many of Barcelona's two million inhabitants were breadless because bakeries were flooded. The drinking water was lacking in many districts.

Theft Loot Set In Thousands

Strongarm Bandit Strikes At Weirton

WEIRTON — A bandit believed unarmed overpowered a tavern employe in North Weirton at 9:46 this morning and escaped with a bag believed to have contained several thousand dollars.

The victim, Nick Munas, 56, said he was accosted while walking north on Main St., enroute to Tassey's Tavern from the Bank of Weirton.

Munas, a part-time employe of the tavern, owned by Frank Tassey, said the strongarm robber "jammed him against a wall" and fled with the brown paper bag. The bag was torn in the scuffle, he told police.

The thief then fled across a Weirton Steel Co. parking lot and escaped in a waiting car. Police said the attacker was seen headed north on State Route 2 with a passenger.

Munas told police he was unable to determine the amount of cash in the bag, but reports indicated the loss was several thousand dollars, apparently to be used in cashing checks of steelworkers on payday today.

The victim said the thief escaped in a light colored Ford. Hancock County sheriff's deputies set up roadblocks.

Officer Training Plan Begins For Army Recruits

S.Sgt. Edward P. Vallor, city Army recruiter, said officer candidate opportunities are now available for qualified college graduates in the Army's Infantry and Artillery Schools.

This new addition to the Army's recruiting program — officially entitled, "Officer Candidate School Enlisted Option for Male Civilian Applicants" — now makes it possible for qualified young men to receive appointments to Officer Candidate School prior to enlistment, Sgt. Vallor said.

To qualify, applicants must be at least 18½ but not over 27. They must have a baccalaureate or higher degree from an accredited non-Army ROTC college or university. An exception to this requirement, Sgt. Vallor added, is made for graduates of ROTC schools who, for valid reasons, did not participate in their alma mater's ROTC program. Also required are a two-year enlistment in the Regular Army and successful completion of basic combat training before starting OCS. A thorough physical examination is necessary, as well as the administration of the Army Officer Candidate Test.

Officer candidate courses are 23 weeks in duration.

Details may be obtained from Sgt. Vallor at the recruiting station at the Post Office from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

interfering with Meredith's registration.

Barnett met Meredith at the door of the State College Board office. He refused to accept copies of the court's directives and then read a proclamation asserting the state's sovereignty in the case.

Last Thursday Barnett personally took over powers as Ole Miss registrar and refused to let Meredith enroll at the university.

Meredith left the State Office Building encircled by Mississippi highway patrolmen as a crowd of 1,500 hooted and jeered. He flew to New Orleans.

He stopped briefly at the Jackson airport to talk on the telephone with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

One of Meredith's lawyers said "the gist of the conversation was that he (Kennedy) assured Meredith that they would pursue the case until we get some satisfaction."

Band Boosters At Irondale Pick Dinner Planners

IRONDALE—Committees were named for a project of serving a public dinner Oct. 20 during the village's annual homecoming celebration when Stanton Local Boosters met Monday night in the elementary school.

The planning committee for the dinner includes Mrs. Alice Pilutti, Mrs. LuEllen Paisley, Mrs. Lola Tolson, Mrs. Beulah Young, Mrs. Lenora Smith, Mrs. Jane Henderson and Mrs. Jane Ann Tolson.

The group also made plans to operate a concession stand at a square dance Oct. 18. A Tag Day will be held in the Stanton Local school district in late October for the new uniform fund.

Food will be provided for the band and football squad after the final game in November, it was decided. The boosters realized $72.56 from a food festival Aug. 31 and will use the proceeds to purchase a new majorette uniform.

Second reading of the revised constitution was held. Mrs. Pilutti, president, presided.

State Files $100 Offer For Area Road Land

The State Highway Department filed an offer of $100 in the clerk of courts office Tuesday at Lisbon for land it needs for the improvement of new Route 30 in East Liverpool.

Negotiations having failed, the state took this step as a prelude to condemnation proceedings.

For a parcel of land including over nine acres owned by Carrie B. Merrill, 218 W. 6th St., and others, to be used for construction and improvement, the state offered $100 for the land, claiming no damage to residue.

The owners have 15 days in which to appeal or accept the amount.

Port

Cuban-Soviet Atlantic fishing fleet. Some Soviet trawlers arrived last summer and Castro reported then they would be turned over to the Cubans.

A Cuban commentator on a nationwide television broadcast declared the facilities would be "a Cuban port and Cuban property." He ridiculed reports he said were circulating in Miami that Russians would control the port.

The commentator praised the Soviet Union for extending credits to finance more than half the cost of the 12-million peso project.

He said this contrasted with the trade policy of the United States before Castro came to power. He asserted the United States then was interested only in buying Cuban sugar and tobacco and tried to choke off Cuban rice production in favor of American producers.

A communique reported the fishing port would provide facilities for from 115 to 130 medium trawlers.

The communique said the port would include piers, refrigerators, an ice factory, supply depots, shops, a floating dock, fuel supply stations and a radio station.

Liquor Board Delays East End Club Ruling

The State Liquor Control Board took under advisement a charge of sales to non-members following a hearing Tuesday in Columbus for the Veterans Social Club of Pennsylvania Ave.

A barmaid at the club was convicted on the charge last June and the state agency was notified of the conviction by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who attended yesterday's hearing.

The charge also resulted in the club being placed on probation under strict controls by Common Pleas Court. Acting on a request from Judge Chertoff, County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw had filed a petition asking the club be padlocked as "a public nuisance." but Judge Joel H. Sharp denied the request and ordered the probation.

Get Rid Of The Postal 'Deficit'

If the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee really has nailed down 5-cent letter postage, with corresponding increases down the line, is it too much to hope this latest jump in rates might nail down the myth of a postal deficit too?

Provided the full Senate passes a postal increase bill and a conference committee reconciles it with a corresponding House bill, this is what will happen:

A pay increase for postal employes will take most of the increased income from higher postal rates.

There will continue to be a postal deficit. The postal dog will keep on chasing its tail because tail-chasing is a way of life in government, the same as it is in private enterprise whenever wage increase and price increases go on ad infinitum until someone goes broke.

INFORMED opinion has surmised from time to time that if the federal government didn't have a monopoly on postal service private operators would move in and make the Post Office Department improve or perish.

That isn't about to happen.

But because it isn't going to happen, why should the public be kidded with the myth of a postal deficit? The Post Office Department charges for some of its services, true. So do the State Department, the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture. Yet no one ever speaks of their "deficits."

If the Post Office Department were to be self-supporting it would need to do three things:

1. Get rid of all the jobs foisted on it that have nothing to do with postal service;

2. Charge mail users for postal services now being performed at rates out of all proportion to actual costs, such as "junk mail" delivery;

3. Tighten up operations to a point comparable with those of private competition in other fields of endeavor.

A POSTAL "DEFICIT," like the poor, will be with us always. We can't get rid of it.

But the myth that it would disappear if users of postal services did their duty and paid more postage — that we can get rid of.

It's nonsense. When we pay a nickel to mail a letter there still will be a postal deficit and we'll be lucky if it isn't bigger than ever by the time a letter costs a dime.

Historic Lesson For Aggressors

In World War II, before that in World War I and before that in the War of the Revolution and the Spanish-American War it was widely assumed in the Old World that the New World lacked the will to fight.

The fighting potential was plain; the strength was there. But in the absence of a belligerent official attitude, even the belligerence that flared briefly in the action that shattered Spanish militarism at the turn of the century, the assumptoin was made by European sword rattlers that the potential could no materialize for lack of determination. The assumption was fatally wrong.

This is the background for Secretary of State Rusk's current activities in the United Nations, for Ambassador Stevenson's strong statements to Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko, for everything being said officially in behalf of the United States at a time when the threat of aggressive military action again is rumbling in the background of international relations. "Don't tread on us!"

There is a historic lesson for aggressors to be learned—the lesson that the sovereign power of the United States lies within the people themselves. It is not in the hands of their elected leaders. They act only as its trustees.

Foreign leaders, unaccustomed to this concealed popular force, mistakenly have thought they were dealing with officials of varying degrees of strength, instead of with the composite mass of the American people. They have calculated the chances of war in terms of personalities, instead of in terms of the American population.

It will not be what any one man, one clique, or one government does that they must reckon with in a showdown. It will be what the American people as a whole will decide to do that will determine the outcome of their sword-rattling.

Governments can be changed here at predetermined intervals. Public opinion can change the opinions of governments overnight.

Is the Old World sizing up the New World and the United States with a view to conquest? Is that the meaning of the Russian military buildup in Cuba?

Are Old World leaders making the mistake of thinking they are dealing with personalities instead of with the sovereign will of the American people?

Is lack of official belligerency being mistaken for a lack of deep-growing popular concern about the intentions of Old World aggressors, backed up by deep-growing determination to keep them from getting a foothold here?

Everything Possible Wasn't Enough

A large passenger plane forced down at sea is the ultimate aviation horror. But it is not the ultimate aviation danger.

When the horror occurred last Sunday night 500 miles off the Irish coast, the forced landing was mitigated by the remarkable self-discipline of its passengers and the efficiency and heroism of the plane's crew. Most of the service men and their families escaped death. Many escaped injury.

Everything possible was done to save the passengers and crew.

There was no fire. Most of the people aboard survived the impact itself. The life rafts carried by overseas planes worked well. The survival procedure which overseas passengers hear about apparently worked well, though many passengers have wondered how it could work well with only perfunctory instructions to go by.

It goes without saying, nevertheless, that everything possible wasn't enough. Somewhere someone overlooked something that caused the plane to lose the services of three of its four engines.

What was possible once the plane had been forced to land in the Atlantic was in the domain of emergency action. The inquiry into this tragedy will need to probe into things in the domain of routine performance. What caused the engines to fail?

Airplanes never will be fool-proof, though they are as safe and even safer than older forms of transportation. Each accident adds to the margin of security; each mishap becomes one more that can be averted if its cause can be discovered.

No More Ham, Please

By Truman Twill

Reluctantly, many of us who had wanted to open up courtrooms to cameras are turning in our crusading banners.

Something only half-formed in our minds when we began to talk about the theory of free inquiry is full-formed now.

A camera is a camera, whether it is taking snapshots, motion pictures or recording an event for television, either alive or canned.

Courtrooms would have to be opened for all cameras eventually if they were opened for any kind of cameras now. That would mean television. "You're on camera, killer," hisses counsel for the defense. "Look human!"

It would be better to let well enough alone.

Something happens to people having their pictures taken. If their words also are being recorded it happens to them twice as much and it isn't good.

It's as harmless as the camera-shy violet who tries to look imposing when photography become inevitable and looks like a warmed-over corpse instead; it's as evil as the ham who goes into his act whenever a camera is pointed his way and uses photographic exposure to fool all the people all the time.

One day recently a subcommittee of the U.S. Senate was holding a public hearing in New York City. It was trying to dig up information about narcotics in the city where close to half the narcotics used by Americans are peddled.

But first there was an unexpected free show to get over with. A gaggle of politicians had moved in to take advantage of the television and radio gear that had been moved in.

The boys snapped and snarled at each other for the benefit of the great unseen audience until the TV floodlights were turned off, signaling that the show had gone off the air. The combatants immediately stopped talking and started to grin.

"How'd I do?" asked the Democrat, a green candidate named Robert M. Morgenthau, a son of the Morgenthau who was secretary of the treasury back in the Franklin Roosevelt era. His handlers told him he did well. He beamed.

His antagonist was U.S. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, New York version of a Republican and cast on this occasion as a defender of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller whom Morgenthau is challenging for his job.

If Abe Lincoln had known about television he never would have concluded his quip about fooling the people by saying you can't fool all the people all the time.

He'd have said that before electronics you could fool all of us some of the time and some of us all of the time but afterward you could fool all of them all of the time if you wore a blue shirt and used the right makeup.

Things are difficult enough now without letting this sort of thing get into the courtrooms too.

Let's keep the ham actors who are performing there now from doing their stuff for nationwide audiences or we'll lose justice in the shuffle.

Difficult it is to realize that there are many people in the world who have never seen the ocean — especially since more than 70 per cent of the earth's surface is cover ed by the oceans. 1961 Cuban Invasion Failure Reviewed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy in his speeches likes to refer to his troubles—particularly Cuba—as having been "inherited" from the Eisenhower administration. Former President Truman says in his political outbursts that Mr. Eisenhower was a "lazy" President. The real question is not how much time a president gives to golf or yachting or campaigning or social events, but how he uses the time he does give to official business—the kind of decisions he makes.

David Lawrence

Members of Congress have in the last few days put into the Congressional Record a lengthy article that was published two weeks ago in U.S. News & World Report giving a comprehensive account of the fateful decision President Kennedy made when he first withdrew and then—when it was too late—actually approved of air support for the Cuban exiles in their invasion of their homeland in April 1961.

Ever since that time there have been attempts to blame the whole fiasco on the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff or on the Central Intelligence Agency. But President Kennedy told the truth when he himself assumed full responsibility.

What hasn't been generally known, however, is how he came to make the mistake he did.

THE MAGAZINE article was the result of many weeks of investigation and research among official sources, particularly among persons who were in the know at the time. Certain administration officials have since conceded the accuracy of the article. It reads in part as follows:

"A fateful decision, made by President Kennedy on Sunday, April 16, 1961, is rising now to plague the U.S. On that Sunday evening, an armed force of Cuban refugees, trained by the United States, was at sea, sailing secretly to invade Fidel Castro's Cuba. The American President, a few hours earlier, had given final approval to that invasion.

"Only the day before, on April 15, a surprise attack by B-26 bombing planes belonging to the invaders had knocked out all but seven planes of Castro's tiny air force.

"A second air strike was scheduled for Monday morning, April 17. It was to coincide with the landing of the invaders. It was supposed to finish the job of wiping out Castro's planes and to provide air support for the invasion.

"Secure in the assurance of air support, the invaders went ashore in the early morning darkness of Monday, April 17. Their landing was successful: 1,400 armed men reached the beaches of a place called the Bay of Pigs.

"In the battle that followed, Castro's troops suffered heavy casualties. Castro's tanks, coming up to the battle, were sitting ducks for an attack by air. Confidently, the little invading force waited for its air support to arrive. Its leaders had assurance of that support. It was provided in the preinvasion planning.

"HOURS BEFORE, on Sunday evening, a small but potent force of B-26s was sitting in readiness on an airfield 500 miles away (in a Latin-American country), waiting to take off for the Bay of Pigs. Those were planes of the invasion force, with Cuban pilots. But those planes didn't take off. The reason: President Kennedy forbade their use. . . .

"When the invasion began, in the predawn hours of Monday, the need of air support became apparent. Worried, the nonmilitary officials in Washington who were running the invasion went to President Kennedy for a new decision. They suggested that U.S. Navy planes from a U.S. aircraft carrier be used to fly air support for the invaders. . . .

"In the planning of the invasion—planning begun under the Eisenhower administration — the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff had recommended the use of U.S. air support. President Kennedy vetoed the idea. He insisted that there was to be no direct American participation. Now, with the outcome possibly hanging in the balance, military and nonmilitary men joined in renewing the plea.

"Once again, in the early-morning hours of Monday, April 17, President Kennedy made a fateful decision. He said 'no' to the use of U.S. planes. . . .

"With no air support, the invasion soon began to run into trouble. . . . in the face of this situation, President Kennedy took wraps off the Cuban fliers. On Monday noon he said they could go into action. But bad weather interfered at first. Finally, an air strike was set up for early Wednesday.

"On Tuesday, however, the situation continued to deteriorate. . . . by Tuesday night, April 18, a crisis was clearly at hand. Once again there was an appeal to President Kennedy. On this night the President, in white tie and tails, was playing host at a congressional reception in the White House. He left the party to confer with his advisers—both civilian and military. Again it was proposed to use U.S. planes to save the invasion.

"THIS TIME the President relented slightly. He consented to using one carrier's planes for just one hour on Wednesday morning—just long enough to provide cover for the invaders to land some supplies and for their planes to make a quick strike. U.S. planes, still, were not to attack land targets.

"Even this limited plan for U.S. aid went awry. There were communications mixups. The Cuban fliers mistimed their strike. The U.S. planes never got into action. And anyway, it developed, it was too late. By sundown on Wednesday, April 19, the invasion was a failure. The invaders inflicted close to 2,000 casualties on Castro's forces, suffered only a hundred or so casualties of their own. But without air support, the invaders could not hold out. Most of them wound up as Castro captives."

Criticism and analysis in retrospect by those who know the whole story is concentrated today on one point—full authority should be given in advance and a military operation should be handled by military men near the battle scene and not many hundreds of miles away in the White House or even in the Pentagon.

'How Come He's Always Around The House? Doesn't He Work?'

U.S. Predicament With Castro Always Double

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

The United States' predicament with Fidel Castro has always been double: how to do something about him and how to save face if it doesn't.

It's an embarrassed contemplation.

Now, like a man determined to drive a neighbor to distraction with gradual torments, Premier Khrushchev has added one more jolt to the American embarrassment.

He let Castro announce Tuesday the Soviet Union and Cuba plan to build a port somewhere on Cuba's coastline as headquarters for a joint Russian-Cuban fishing fleet.

The immediate American reaction is: just a fishing fleet?

It was bad enough when Moscow announced some weeks ago it was sending arms to Castro along with technicians to teach the Cubans how to use them. This brought heated demands in this country for a Cuban invasion.

President Kennedy thought they were overheated. He said the weapons so far were just the defensive kind. Congress, after appropriate reflection, has been content to settle for a resolution.

It will say something to the effect that the United States will use force if necessary to stop any expansion of communism from Cuba to the rest of the Western Hemisphere.

Thus no American action—at least overt—appeared to be in the works at this time.

But the thought of a Russian fishing fleet patrolling the American coast—with all that the presence of such a fleet could imply—will probably cause new outbursts of American exasperation.

It is easy to imagine the form it will take:

That the new port may in reality become not a fishing base but a Russian naval base.

That the Russian vessels will range all the way from electronic Peeping Toms, looking in the American window, to naval caravans landing Communist guerrillas on the shore of Latin-American republics.

All this in time may be true, and the very nearness of the Russian ships is ominous, but the United States will still probably feel compelled to show restraint for a variety of reasons.

Any direct assault by the American giant on Cuba with a population of only seven million would give Khrushchev the finest propaganda harvest he's gathered since the cold war started.

There has been no outburst of enthusiasm in Latin-American countries, which this country is so anxious to protect from communism, for direct action to throttle Castro.

And, since this country is anxious to be considered a good neighbor and a good influence to its Latin neighbors, it can ill afford to be considered a baleful one, which it might if it resorted to invasion.

In addition there is the little matter of the Russian threat of war if the United States hits Cuba. This may be strictly bluff. Naturally, the United States must be hesitant to assume so, since the results could be ghastly.

Yet, having said all this, the American predicament is painful.

The United States has been asserting leadership of the Americas. Its hope of success in Latin America is based on the hope its leadership will be accepted and respected, two conditions practically synonymous.

But here's tiny Cuba, just 90 miles off the American coast, defying gigantic Uncle Sam, peeking out from under the wing of Khrushchev to call names.

The longer this goes on, the more the loss of face for the United States. There's a limit to how much more it can lose without jeopardizing Latin-American respect, which could be as disastrous as anything else.

Thus the United States can lose something if it acts and something if it doesn't. While it ponders, the best it can expect is more indignities from both Krushchev and Castro.

Japan's Patriotism Lags

By Jack Russell

TOKYO

A solemn gathering of scholars and educators will take place in Tokyo shortly to puzzle over the problem of teaching patriotism to indifferent school children.

The government is anxious to give Japanese school children a sense of pride and love of country which it believes has been lacking since the "old ethical and spiritual values" collapsed with Japan's wartime defeat.

But Education Ministry officials admit that the problem of teaching patriotism is not easy to solve.

The first obstacle to overcome is the widespread suspicion and distrust of the very word "patriotism" which many Japanese connect mentally with the totalitarian state that perished 17 years ago. To leftists, the government's plan to teach patriotism means "an indoctrination course in capitalism" which they heatedly attack.

"It is difficult to decide what is true patriotism," one education Ministry official said, "but gradually in Japan there is a growing consciousness of a national value, a realization of the need for nationalism."

ADULT CONFUSION in Japan has compounded the ordinary problems of teaching a child how to be a patriot.

However, Ministry of Education officials stressed that the need for instruction in patriotism, ethics and morality is real for more than 22 million primary and middle school children.

"We cannot expect prosperity economically or culturally or a growth of proper international relationships without patriotism," the Education Ministry official said.

He said Japanese youth is "too materialistic, lacks spiritual values and don't understand the true sense of national solidarity.

"Japanese school children are apathetic toward the national flag and many do not even know that national anthem, Kimigayo.'"

Since World War II, the government has not made it mandatory that schools fly the Rising Sun flag on national holidays and, according to the Ministry of Education, one third of the nation's schools do not honor these days.

Recently, Education Minister Masuo Araki ordered a study on what textbooks should be used and how a well organized course on patriotism and ethics could be established.

CURRENTLY, one hour a week is set aside in Japanese schools for moral education. But Education Ministry officials confessed that their instructions are vague. A teacher is told to "create the ability within children to attain rich individuality, help develop democracy and contribute to a peaceful international society" but little else. Only two or three words, they said, are devoted in the curriculum to patriotism.

Many teachers complain that they need textbooks and guidance. Others for their own reasons prefer to be free to teach what they like.

An Education Ministry official said that the one hour course is actually at the disposal of the teachers to teach any doctrine. He said there had been instances of teachers instructing students in communism.

But the looseness of the Education Ministry's instructions on moral education reflects the government's over - cautiousness in not wanting to appear in the least as if it was reinstituting thought control.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

My husband, my son and I were parked at a service station at 17th and Commerce Sts. in Wellsville the other day.

There were plenty of cars passing us and there just wasn't any dust or dirt on the road. The very air in Wellsville smelled country fresh.

In the 1930's, while I made my home with my uncle, Floyd Means, it was nothing for us ladies to take curtains down from the windows and wash them three times in two weeks, and still the windows and curtains were dirty.

The late Elmer Spires had a book on Wellsville history in 1903, and Wellsville was a busy place. But what a dirty city it must have been then!

My grandfather, William Andrew Means, who served from 1861 to 1865 as an outlook for the famed 13th West Virginia Infantry, said he came down through the Ohio Valley and Wellsville had very few houses built and the Ohio River could be crossed on foot in different places.

I imagine the air was clean and fresh then as it smelled to us last week. We live on Route 39 just outside of town. Wellsville should be proud of the wonderful work being done by Fred Baldasare and his men.

Clean air means cleaner homes, cleaner living and better health; an enjoyment for all who live in Wellsville and for others who come into town.

Get Rid Of The Postal 'Deficit'

If the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee really has nailed down 5-cent letter postage, with corresponding increases down the line, is it too much to hope this latest jump in rates might nail down the myth of a postal deficit too?

Provided the full Senate passes a postal increase bill and a conference committee reconciles it with a corresponding House bill, this is what will happen:

A pay increase for postal employes will take most of the increased income from higher postal rates.

There will continue to be a postal deficit. The postal dog will keep on chasing its tail because tail-chasing is a way of life in government, the same as it is in private enterprise whenever wage increase and price increases go on ad infinitum until someone goes broke.

INFORMED opinion has surmised from time to time that if the federal government didn't have a monopoly on postal service private operators would move in and make the Post Office Department improve or perish.

That isn't about to happen.

But because it isn't going to happen, why should the public be kidded with the myth of a postal deficit? The Post Office Department charges for some of its services, true. So do the State Department, the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture. Yet no one ever speaks of their "deficits."

If the Post Office Department were to be self-supporting it would need to do three things:

1. Get rid of all the jobs foisted on it that have nothing to do with postal service;

2. Charge mail users for postal services now being performed at rates out of all proportion to actual costs, such as "junk mail" delivery;

3. Tighten up operations to a point comparable with those of private competition in other fields of endeavor.

A POSTAL "DEFICIT," like the poor, will be with us always. We can't get rid of it.

But the myth that it would disappear if users of postal services did their duty and paid more postage — that we can get rid of.

It's nonsense. When we pay a nickel to mail a letter there still will be a postal deficit and we'll be lucky if it isn't bigger than ever by the time a letter costs a dime.

Historic Lesson For Aggressors

In World War II, before that in World War I and before that in the War of the Revolution and the Spanish-American War it was widely assumed in the Old World that the New World lacked the will to fight.

The fighting potential was plain; the strength was there. But in the absence of a belligerent official attitude, even the belligerence that flared briefly in the action that shattered Spanish militarism at the turn of the century, the assumptoin was made by European sword rattlers that the potential could no materialize for lack of determination. The assumption was fatally wrong.

This is the background for Secretary of State Rusk's current activities in the United Nations, for Ambassador Stevenson's strong statements to Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko, for everything being said officially in behalf of the United States at a time when the threat of aggressive military action again is rumbling in the background of international relations. "Don't tread on us!"

There is a historic lesson for aggressors to be learned—the lesson that the sovereign power of the United States lies within the people themselves. It is not in the hands of their elected leaders. They act only as its trustees.

Foreign leaders, unaccustomed to this concealed popular force, mistakenly have thought they were dealing with officials of varying degrees of strength, instead of with the composite mass of the American people. They have calculated the chances of war in terms of personalities, instead of in terms of the American population.

It will not be what any one man, one clique, or one government does that they must reckon with in a showdown. It will be what the American people as a whole will decide to do that will determine the outcome of their sword-rattling.

Governments can be changed here at predetermined intervals. Public opinion can change the opinions of governments overnight.

Is the Old World sizing up the New World and the United States with a view to conquest? Is that the meaning of the Russian military buildup in Cuba?

Are Old World leaders making the mistake of thinking they are dealing with personalities instead of with the sovereign will of the American people?

Is lack of official belligerency being mistaken for a lack of deep-growing popular concern about the intentions of Old World aggressors, backed up by deep-growing determination to keep them from getting a foothold here?

Everything Possible Wasn't Enough

A large passenger plane forced down at sea is the ultimate aviation horror. But it is not the ultimate aviation danger.

When the horror occurred last Sunday night 500 miles off the Irish coast, the forced landing was mitigated by the remarkable self-discipline of its passengers and the efficiency and heroism of the plane's crew. Most of the service men and their families escaped death. Many escaped injury.

Everything possible was done to save the passengers and crew.

There was no fire. Most of the people aboard survived the impact itself. The life rafts carried by overseas planes worked well. The survival procedure which overseas passengers hear about apparently worked well, though many passengers have wondered how it could work well with only perfunctory instructions to go by.

It goes without saying, nevertheless, that everything possible wasn't enough. Somewhere someone overlooked something that caused the plane to lose the services of three of its four engines.

What was possible once the plane had been forced to land in the Atlantic was in the domain of emergency action. The inquiry into this tragedy will need to probe into things in the domain of routine performance. What caused the engines to fail?

Airplanes never will be fool-proof, though they are as safe and even safer than older forms of transportation. Each accident adds to the margin of security; each mishap becomes one more that can be averted if its cause can be discovered.

But the thought of a Russian fishing fleet patrolling the American coast—with all that the presence of such a fleet could imply—will probably cause new outbursts of American exasperation.

It is easy to imagine the form it will take:

That the new port may in reality become not a fishing base but a Russian naval base.

That the Russian vessels will range all the way from electronic Peeping Toms, looking in the American window, to naval caravans landing Communist guerrillas on the shore of Latin-American republics.

All this in time may be true, and the very nearness of the Russian ships is ominous, but the United States will still probably feel compelled to show restraint for a variety of reasons.

Any direct assault by the American giant on Cuba with a population of only seven million would give Khrushchev the finest propaganda harvest he's gathered since the cold war started.

There has been no outburst of enthusiasm in Latin-American countries, which this country is so anxious to protect from communism, for direct action to throttle Castro.

And, since this country is anxious to be considered a good neighbor and a good influence to its Latin neighbors, it can ill afford to be considered a baleful one, which it might if it resorted to invasion.

In addition there is the little matter of the Russian threat of war if the United States hits Cuba. This may be strictly bluff. Naturally, the United States must be hesitant to assume so, since the results could be ghastly.

Yet, having said all this, the American predicament is painful.

The United States has been asserting leadership of the Americas. Its hope of success in Latin America is based on the hope its leadership will be accepted and respected, two conditions practically synonymous.

But here's tiny Cuba, just 90 miles off the American coast, defying gigantic Uncle Sam, peeking out from under the wing of Khrushchev to call names.

The longer this goes on, the more the loss of face for the United States. There's a limit to how much more it can lose without jeopardizing Latin-American respect, which could be as disastrous as anything else.

Thus the United States can lose something if it acts and something if it doesn't. While it ponders, the best it can expect is more indignities from both Krushchev and Castro.

Japan's Patriotism Lags

By Jack Russell

TOKYO

A solemn gathering of scholars and educators will take place in Tokyo shortly to puzzle over the problem of teaching patriotism to indifferent school children.

The government is anxious to give Japanese school children a sense of pride and love of country which it believes has been lacking since the "old ethical and spiritual values" collapsed with Japan's wartime defeat.

But Education Ministry officials admit that the problem of teaching patriotism is not easy to solve.

The first obstacle to overcome is the widespread suspicion and distrust of the very word "patriotism" which many Japanese connect mentally with the totalitarian state that perished 17 years ago. To leftists, the government's plan to teach patriotism means "an indoctrination course in capitalism" which they heatedly attack.

"It is difficult to decide what is true patriotism," one education Ministry official said, "but gradually in Japan there is a growing consciousness of a national value, a realization of the need for nationalism."

ADULT CONFUSION in Japan has compounded the ordinary problems of teaching a child how to be a patriot.

However, Ministry of Education officials stressed that the need for instruction in patriotism, ethics and morality is real for more than 22 million primary and middle school children.

"We cannot expect prosperity economically or culturally or a growth of proper international relationships without patriotism," the Education Ministry official said.

He said Japanese youth is "too materialistic, lacks spiritual values and don't understand the true sense of national solidarity.

"Japanese school children are apathetic toward the national flag and many do not even know that national anthem, Kimigayo.' "

Since World War II, the government has not made it mandatory that schools fly the Rising Sun flag on national holidays and, according to the Ministry of Education, one third of the nation's schools do not honor these days.

Recently, Education Minister Masuo Araki ordered a study on what textbooks should be used and how a well organized course on patriotism and ethics could be established.

CURRENTLY, one hour a week is set aside in Japanese schools for moral education. But Education Ministry officials confessed that their instructions are vague. A teacher is told to "create the ability within children to attain rich individuality, help develop democracy and contribute to a peaceful international society" but little else. Only two or three words, they said, are devoted in the curriculum to patriotism.

Many teachers complain that they need textbooks and guidance. Others for their own reasons prefer to be free to teach what they like.

An Education Ministry official said that the one hour course is actually at the disposal of the teachers to teach any doctrine. He said there had been instances of teachers instructing students in communism.

But the looseness of the Education Ministry's instructions on moral education reflects the government's over - cautiousness in not wanting to appear in the least as if it was reinstituting thought control.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

My husband, my son and I were parked at a service station at 17th and Commerce Sts. in Wellsville the other day.

There were plenty of cars passing us and there just wasn't any dust or dirt on the road. The very air in Wellsville smelled country fresh.

In the 1930's, while I made my home with my uncle, Floyd Means, it was nothing for us ladies to take curtains down from the windows and wash them three times in two weeks, and still the windows and curtains were dirty.

The late Elmer Spires had a book on Wellsville history in 1903, and Wellsville was a busy place. But what a dirty city it must have been then!

My grandfather, William Andrew Means, who served from 1861 to 1865 as an outlook for the famed 13th West Virginia Infantry, said he came down through the Ohio Valley and Wellsville had very few houses built and the Ohio River could be crossed on foot in different places.

I imagine the air was clean and fresh then as it smelled to us last week. We live on Route 39 just outside of town. Wellsville should be proud of the wonderful work being done by Fred Baldasare and his men.

Clean air means cleaner homes, cleaner living and better health; an enjoyment for all who live in Wellsville and for others who come into town.

Yale Sophomore From Ohio Fined In Bombs Case

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A 19-year-old Yale sophomore from Rocky River, Ohio, must pay a $10 fine because he exploded three homemade bombs on the university campus.

William G. Harter pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of setting off fireworks within the city limits. Harter was expelled from Yale Monday. Judge Walter A. Hayes said he had assurances the youth was leaving the city and had promised to pay for the damage.

Two bombs exploded Friday night. On the previous Tuesday a bomb went off in the Old Campus and a fragment from a tin can hit a freshman in the chest but did not cause serious injuries.

John Powell, university director of security, said Harter had worked on explosives while employed by a refinery during the summer and apparently brought some chemicals back with him to Yale. He said the youth was warned last year about exploding a homemade bomb.

Monongahela's Tax Unchanged

The tentative taxing valuation of the Monongahela Power Co., which serves the Hancock County area, remains unchanged at $69 million, according to the West Virginia State Tax Department.

The valuations for tax purposes total $875,795,000, an increase of $5.89 million over present valuations.

The utilities will have an opportunity to protest the figures at Board of Public Works hearings Oct. 8-10.

County levy rates are applied to the final valuations fixed by the board. The utilities final tax bills for 1961 totaled $20.8 million.

At Managing Editors Convention

Newspapers Challenged To Scale Greater Heights

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — American newspapers, long the dominant force in day-to-day enlightenment of the reading public, were issued a stern challenge today by one of their leading spokesmen to scale even greater heights of meaningful reporting.

The call came from Ed Stone of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and retiring president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, which opened its annual five-day convention here.

"I feel strongly," Stone said, "that the great challenge to our existence as a vital and essential part of American life lies still before us; that only by daring and imagination and a constant questioning of time-honored concepts and practices, can we ever hope to approach the shining goal of maximum service to our readers, our community and our nation."

Stone spoke to some 300 delegates at the APME session. He also used his president's report to voice an answer to critics of today's newspapers.

"Ill-informed and even malicious criticisms of America's newspapers by an influential minority persist in setting up a straw man of sensationalism and irresponsibility with little or no relationship to 1962 reality," he said.

"Our jaundiced detractors of this persuasion are fond of citing 5 or 10 'best newspapers' as living up to their criteria and dismissing the rest of America's vast press as of no account, thus dumping into their critical ashcan the hundreds of good newspapers across the land which are serving their respective communities conscientiously and well," he added.

The Seattle executive urged his fellow editors to greater effort in backgrounding news to make it more vital to the reader.

"How much do we really know of the immense circle of peoples," he asked, "now emerging into the sunlight of the 20th century in Africa and Asia, whose fate is inextricably bound up with ours and with that of our children's children in the onward march of history?

"We are living in exciting times —in a broad sweep of history that is changing the world daily before our very eyes," Stone said. "and it is up to us to communicate the excitement of these times to our readers."

Stone cited The Associated Press' "World Spotlight Series" as a significant breakthrough in illuminating the news, calling it "the weekly background report from the hot news fronts of this troubled globe."

Keynoting the APME sessions was J. Q. Mahaffey, veteran editor of the Texarkana Gazette.

"I have always felt that the AP was not just a news service," Mahaffey said, "not even a mutually owned news service, but a great fraternity of the best newspapermen in the world, all of whom care a hell of a lot about one another."

Today's sessions included presentation of member citations for outstanding performances in news coverage. Making the awards was Ted Durein, of the Monterey, Calif., Peninsula Herald, and chairman of the member citations committee.

The APME board of directors voted to hold the 1966 convention in San Diego. Meeting dates are set four years in advance. Miami will be the host city in 1963. Phoenix will entertain the convention in 1964, and Pittsburgh will be the host in 1965.

At Managing Editors Convention

Newspapers Challenged To Scale Greater Heights

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — American newspapers, long the dominant force in day-to-day enlightenment of the reading public, were issued a stern challenge today by one of their leading spokesmen to scale even greater heights of meaningful reporting.

The call came from Ed Stone of the Seattle Post Intelligencer and retiring president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, which opened its annual five-day convention here.

"I feel strongly," Stone said, "that the great challenge to our existence as a vital and essential part of American life lies still before us; that only by daring and imagination and a constant questioning of time-honored concepts and practices, can we ever hope to approach the shining goal of maximum service to our readers, our community and our nation."

Stone spoke to some 300 delegates at the APME session. He also used his president's report to voice an answer to critics of today's newspapers.

"Ill-informed and even malicious criticisms of America's newspapers by an influential minority persist in setting up a straw man of sensationalism and irresponsibility with little or no relationship to 1962 reality," he said.

"Our jaundiced detractors of this persuasion are fond of citing 5 or 10 'best newspapers' as living up to their criteria and dismissing the rest of America's vast press as of no account, thus dumping into their critical ashcan the hundreds of good newspapers across the land which are serving their respective communities conscientiously and well," he added.

The Seattle executive urged his fellow editors to greater effort in backgrounding news to make it more vital to the reader.

"How much do we really know of the immense circle of peoples," he asked, "now emerging into the sunlight of the 20th century in Africa and Asia, whose fate is inextricably bound up with ours and with that of our children's children in the onward march of history?

"We are living in exciting times —in a broad sweep of history that is changing the world daily before our very eyes," Stone said. "and it is up to us to communicate the excitement of these times to our readers."

Stone cited The Associated Press' "World Spotlight Series" as a significant breakthrough in illuminating the news, calling it "the weekly background report from the hot news fronts of this troubled globe."

Keynoting the APME sessions was J. Q. Mahaffey, veteran editor of the Texarkana Gazette.

"I have always felt that the AP was not just a news service," Mahaffey said, "not even a mutually owned news service, but a great fraternity of the best newspapermen in the world, all of whom care a hell of a lot about one another."

Today's sessions included presentation of member citations for outstanding performances in news coverage. Making the awards was Ted Durein, of the Monterey, Calif., Peninsula Herald, and chairman of the member citations committee.

The APME board of directors voted to hold the 1966 convention in San Diego. Meeting dates are set four years in advance. Miami will be the host city in 1963. Phoenix will entertain the convention in 1964, and Pittsburgh will be the host in 1965.

Group Gives Entertainment For Program Of Quota Club

A little bit of Broadway came to Maine Blvd. when a variety show was presented for the meeting of the Quota Club Tuesday night with Mrs. Laura Reinacher of Maine Blvd. About 30 attended.

Costumed vocalists gave solos, including Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad;" Mrs. Jan Dietz, "Second Hand Rose;" Mrs. Marge Reed, "When I Get You Alone Tonight Willie," and Mrs. Clara Hall, "Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend."

Group selections were "Give My Regards to Broadway," in which the cast wore blue skirts and straw hats; "Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair," when they donned beach apparel, and "Sunnyside Up," which featured a dance routine.

Recitations were given by Mrs. Dietz, "Malindy;" Mrs. Rinehart, "I'm Fine," and Mrs. Hall, "My Bifocals."

Mrs. Billie Martin was mistress of ceremonies and Miss Jo Ann Vannoy pianist and program director. Program booklet covers were large, glossy prints of fashion models. Favors were grab-bags filled with sample items provided by Mrs. Reinacher, Mrs. Mildred McKim, Mrs. Nellie McLain and Miss Luella Thompson.

Mrs. McLain, president, conducted business. Mrs. Sallie O'Hanlon, acting secretary, read the minutes, and Mrs. Mary Gladwyn Daily, the financial report.

A letter was read from Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, announcing a meeting of the Executive Board Oct. 3 at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Mrs. McLain and Miss Gladys DeBolt, delegates, reported on the recent conference of the 6th District held at Toledo when Mrs. Maureen Koepke of Lorain was elected governor.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Rebecca Turk.

The buffet table, covered with a lace cloth, featured an arrangement of marigold, flanked by orange tapers in three-tier crystal candelabra. Mrs. McLain poured at the silver tea service.

Next luncheon meeting is Oct. 9 at the Travelers Hotel.

Briley Discusses Farm Problems At GOP's Rally

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The problems of agriculture will remain until farm products are on a supply and demand basis, John Marshall Briley told a Republican rally here today.

"The problems of agriculture are never going to be solved with a Congress comes along with enough firmness of purpose to put into one piece of legislation a complete plan for gradually disposing of surpluses and making both volume of production and prices respond to market demands," he said.

Briley, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate, is opposing incumbent Democrat Frank J. Lausche in the November election.

"The farm plan of the Kennedy administration would get rid of surpluses by squeezing production below the current rate of use," Briley said. At the same time, he continued, price supports and higher consumer prices would keep farm income up.

"Such a program has little to offer to the low-income farmer except rigid controls," he said.

Briley Discusses Farm Problems At GOP's Rally

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The problems of agriculture will remain until farm products are on a supply and demand basis, John Marshall Briley told a Republican rally here today.

"The problems of agriculture are never going to be solved with a Congress comes along with enough firmness of purpose to put into one piece of legislation a complete plan for gradually disposing of surpluses and making both volume of production and prices respond to market demands," he said.

Briley, Republican candidate for U.S. Senate, is opposing incumbent Democrat Frank J. Lausche in the November election.

"The farm plan of the Kennedy administration would get rid of surpluses by squeezing production below the current rate of use," Briley said. At the same time, he continued, price supports and higher consumer prices would keep farm income up.

"Such a program has little to offer to the low-income farmer except rigid controls," he said.

in taxes on earnings from his series of fights with Patterson.

Johansson is on a visit to the United States and there is an order against letting him leave the country before he has made a tax settlement.

In the 1961 incident, Johansson was the only one accused of owing the government taxes. In the present case, the claims involve only the promoters and no allegation is made that either Liston or Patterson owes the government money.

The targets of the crackdown are Championship Sports Inc., promoters of the Liston-Patterson fight; and Graff, Reiner and Smith Enterprises Inc., organizers of the closed-circuit TV showings.

IRS claims Championship Sports owes $2,074,500 in income taxes on Tuesday night's fight, plus $100,000 in excise taxes on admission tickets.

The Revenue Service contends that Graff, Reiner and Smith owe income taxes of $1,710,500.

Vandals also were blamed for damaging two refreshment booths at Patterson Field.

Frank Kreefer, custodian for the Board of Education, said five boards on the two stands were broken between 9 p. m. Monday and 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Driver Given Fine Of $250, 10-Day Term

An East End motorist, whose car was struck early Sunday morning while halted on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd., drew a stiff penalty today in Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Gale Clutter, 45, of 2020 Ohio Ave., pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff and was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail, a fine of $250 and costs and his license was revoked for two years.

Clutter's case had been continued from Monday to allow him to obtain an attorney but he appeared this morning without a lawyer.

He was cited by the State Highway Patrol early Sunday morning after his car, halted in the fog, was rammed from the rear by a car operated by Paul M. Waite, 40, of 1394 Township Line Rd., Wellsville.

The patrol told Judge Chertoff that Clutter had been convicted on a same charge about three years ago.

In handing down the sentence, the judge told Clutter he was incensed because "you didn't learn a lesson."

Arthur Ira Peters, 934 Kent St., was fined $10 and costs with the fine suspended on payment of costs after pleading guilty to a charge of driving left of center. He was cited by the patrol last Thursday after his car ran out of gas on Route 45 and he lost control and struck a tree while attempting to back down the hill into West Point.

David B. Wamsley, 18, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of driving with two red lamps mounted on the front of his car in violation of a city ordinance prohibiting such use except for emergency vehicles and school buses.

Wamsley, cited Tuesday afternoon on Market St., said the red lamps were mounted on the grill for turn signals.

A plea for probation will be heard for Gabler Oct. 3 at noon. Judge Pryor will also hear a request for probation for Frank L. Brown of Weirton, sentenced to 1-15 years for entering.

Carter Given Suspension Without Pay

A five-day suspension without pay for Patrolman Paul E. Carter was ordered today by Safety-Service Director Robert Owen following an inquiry into charges of gross neglect of duty and failure to obey an order.

The suspension will be effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday with the officer scheduled to return to duty at 12:01 a. m. Saturday.

The patrolman was advised Monday by Police Chief Americo Radeschi that he would be suspended effective Oct. 1 on the charges because he failed to appear to give testimony last Friday in an intoxication case in Municipal Court.

The director conducted an inquiry into the suspension order this morning. Under the law, the director can either sustain the order or dismiss the charge. If deciding to uphold the suspension, the director can fix the length of the suspension or order dismissal from the department.

However, Patrolman Carter also can appeal the decision to the Municipal Civil Service Commission and ask for a hearing.

The suspension order is an outgrowth of an intoxication case last week in which Officer Carter arrested a Wayne McDole early Thursday. However, the patrolman was not in court when McDole entered an innocent plea and the case was continued until Friday.

The chief said the officer was notified to appear for the trial. When he failed to show up in court, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff wrote the director and chief advising them of his non-appearance and declaring in future cases arresting officers who fail to appear will be cited for contempt of court.

Patrol Checks Report Of Man Struck By Car

A 56-year-old Y. & O. Rd. resident was hospitalized Tuesday afternoon with injuries he said were suffered when struck by an auto while walking along the road.

Carter Given Suspension Without Pay

A five-day suspension without pay for Patrolman Paul E. Carter was ordered today by Safety-Service Director Robert Owen following an inquiry into charges of gross neglect of duty and failure to obey an order.

The suspension will be effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday with the officer scheduled to return to duty at 12:01 a. m. Saturday.

The patrolman was advised Monday by Police Chief Americo Radeschi that he would be suspended effective Oct. 1 on the charges because he failed to appear to give testimony last Friday in an intoxication case in Municipal Court.

The director conducted an inquiry into the suspension order this morning. Under the law, the director can either sustain the order or dismiss the charge. If deciding to uphold the suspension, the director can fix the length of the suspension or order dismissal from the department.

However, Patrolman Carter also can appeal the decision to the Municipal Civil Service Commission and ask for a hearing.

The suspension order is an outgrowth of an intoxication case last week in which Officer Carter arrested a Wayne McDole early Thursday. However, the patrolman was not in court when McDole entered an innocent plea and the case was continued until Friday.

The chief said the officer was notified to appear for the trial. When he failed to show up in court, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff wrote the director and chief advising them of his non-appearance and declaring in future cases arresting officers who fail to appear will be cited for contempt of court.

Cuyahoga's Vote Board Asked To Probe Petitions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has asked the Cuyahoga County election board to investigate petitions submitted by Michael G. Gallagher to qualify for the Oct. 2 Democratic primary.

Gallagher sought the nomination of mayor of Cleveland but his petitions were rejected as insufficient.

Brown sent a letter to Ray C. Miller, clerk of the election board, in which he said some petitions contain a number of signatures which apparently were signed by the same person.

"This is an apparent act of fraud and a violation of Ohio's election code," Brown said. "I am calling this to your attention for an immediate investigation and ask that you turn this matter over to the prosecuting attorney."

The Cuyahoga County prosecutor is John Corrigan, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for mayor in the pre-election primary. Two other Democrats also are seeking the candidacy.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You've helped others. I hope you can help me.

My husband has gotten into a habit of plopping down on the sofa after supper to watch TV. He usually drinks about five or six cans of beer and falls asleep. When I get ready for bed I can't budge him.

He weighs 220 pounds and I might as well try to move an elephant. I've tried to wake him up but he's a terribly mean sleeper and he hits and kicks me.

In the morning when he wakes up and discovers he's in the living room he gets raving mad. He says his back aches because the sofa is lumpy and his feet hurt because he falls asleep with his shoes on.

When I tell him I tried to wake him up and get him to go to bed he doesn't believe me. I need help and I hope you can suggest something. — JESSIE.

Dear Jessie: Your husband is not exactly falling asleep. Passing out is more like it. You can't wake him up because he's in an alcoholic stupor.

If you could persuade him to cut down on the beer your other problem would be solved. In the meantime, get the sofa upholstered and take his shoes off.

Family Martyr

Dear Ann: I'm a 14-year-old girl who feels she is being taken advantage of. In July my aunt and uncle moved to this city from another town. They have four children. The oldest is 8 years of age and the baby is 2.

At first I was happy to help out because my aunt had a lot to do getting settled. I washed and fed the kids, and baby-sat with them during the day. I also sat evenings. I had to pass up going swimming and to the movies with my friends but I didn't complain because I knew I was needed.

Now my aunt expects me to be a nursemaid and a free sitter all the time. She doesn't even ask me. She tells my mother and I am ordered to go over there.

My mother says blood is thicker than water and I should not expect pay for helping relatives. I don't agree. If you say my mother is right I will stop complaining. Thank you. — NATALIE.

Dear Natalie: I do not feel that your mother is right and I'm not going to say she's right just because she's your mother.

Now that your aunt is settled, if she wants you to wash, feed or sit with her children she should pay you as she would pay any other sitter. I don't buy the theory that a blood relationship gives people the right to take advantage of one another.

Etiquette Question

Dear Ann: My daughter recently married a fine young fellow who lives in an Eastern city. She has gone there to live. The marriage was an elopement and I've never met the young man's parents.

They have received my daughter most graciously and from her glowing letters they must be wonderful people. Would it be proper for me to write to them? I would like to but I don't know how to phrase the letter. Your guidance would be deeply appreciated. — EDMONTON.

Dear Edmonton: According to formal procedure, the groom's parents are supposed to write to you. However, I feel strongly that a warm-hearted expression of friendship takes precedence over any rule of etiquette.

By all means write to the young man's parents and simply tell them how much you appreciate their kindness to your daughter. And don't forget to let them know you think their son is "a fine young fellow."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, ed, self-addressed envelope.

Area Council Explains Girl Scout Withdrawal

Due to many inquiries concerning its withdrawl from affiliation with the National Girl Scout movement, the East Liverpool Area Council has prepared a statement explaining its position.

Following several open meetings during which the public was invited to participate and discuss all phases of the proposal of the national organization, in which the local council would have been abolished or combined with other communities, to form a large council, the local group voted withdrawal from the national group.

This proposed merger would have put all properties, monies and other resources under the control of the national group with the local council having very little voice in the use of the facilities.

"The change was decided after much deliberation and after each neighborhood group discussed the proposed changes individually. In explaining the issue, they were notified that the council would have been combined with that of Mahoning and Trumball counties, with just a small local representation on the Executive Board," the statement continued.

"The improvement, maintenance and distribution of all funds and properties would have been the privilege of the new group. Feeling that this would not be for the best interests of the girls, the group dropped the charter and planned another program, the Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

"The former scout organization was formed in 1944 by a group of women who dedicated their time and efforts in enlisting the help of the area in providing a good program for the girls of the local community.

"With less than 50 girls and no resources, they worked along with the support of the community, to develop the present organization. Properties, materials and labor were donated by local individuals to achieve a fine campsite complete with facilities for year-round camping," the statement said.

Mrs. David Beatty, acting president of the Area Council, said that the decision to withdraw "was not reached hastily, but followed a year of careful consideration of all facets, appeals to the national offices and citizens of East Liverpool." "Finally, accepting the fact that nothing could be accomplished by these measures, the local group along with other councils throughout the county, decided to withdraw."

Mrs. Beatty said that the local council will continue to provide and offer services to all girls in the area, which include Chester, Newell, Wellsville and West Point.

The local office is at 517 Broadway and those desiring information on the Camp Fire Girl program may call.

A public meeting will be conducted by Miss Harriet Dively of Grand Rapids, director of Camp Fire Girls, Tuesday at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Bishop Emeritus, 82, Claimed In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. J. Bower Showers, 82-year - old bishop emeritus of the Evangelical United Brethren Church's north central area, died in Miami Valley Hospital here Tuesday.

Bishop Showers served as spiritual leader of the area, with headquarters in Indianapolis, from 1945 to 154 when he retired.

The bishop was born in Paris, Ont., Canada, son of a minister.

A Dayton resident for 45 years, he was professor of New Testament literature and interpretation at Bonebrake Seminary 1910-26; associated editor of the EUB journal, Religious Telescope, 1926-33, and took over the EUB's Otterbein Press, virtually bankrupted in the Depression, and turned it into a going concern.

Man's Convicted In Beating Death Of His Stepson

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Criminal court jury has convicted John A. Cooper, 42, former Fernald atomic plant worker, of second-degree murder in the beating death of his stepson.

Cooper sat without emotion Tuesday as the verdict was read. It came after two hours and 25 minutes of deliberation.

His attorney, Harry McIlwain, said he would file for a new trial.

Judge Simon Leis deferred sentencing Cooper until later.

Cooper was accused of killing John C. Jackson, 20, in a fight Jan. 21 in their North College Hill home after an argument about vacations.

The prosecution contended Cooper cut up the body and strewed the parts along roadsides in Georgia and Florida.

He was also charged with mutilation of a dead body but was tried first on the second-degree murder charge.

Conviction carries a penalty of life in prison with parole consideration after 10 years.

Reports of committees on restoration of Gaston's Mill in the park, and the development of other park and forest areas in Columbiana County, will be discussed.

Sheet Of Cardboard Carries 'Help' Sign

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A heavy sheet of cardboard fluttered down beside Dade County's six-story public safety building. It bore one word: "help."

Police investigated. They found the appeal had been tossed down by Wally Livingston, a county health department employe who daily checks a radioactive fallout gauge on the roof.

Livingston had inadvertently locked himself out on the roof. Police opened the door.

Prairie Silence Broken

Building Of Missile Sites Brings Towns Prosperity

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — The roar of heavy machinery is breaking the prairie silence in central North Dakota, and towns of under 2,000 population are bustling with new business.

It's all caused by a $136.3-million missile site—one of 21 around the nation.

This site is for Minuteman nuclear missiles—the one the Air Force tags "firecrackers with a guidance system."

Most of the sites are in the less-populated central part of the country, where the impact on smaller towns is explosive itself.

"It used to be when you saw a stranger on main street, you wondered who he was and what he was doing here. It's not that way anymore," said Mayor Richard Kostenko of Max, N.D., a hamlet of 410 persons.

"It's good—but it'll be short lived, and maybe that's the trouble with it," Kostenko sighed. "There's just too much all at once."

Most of that "too much" involves monthly payrolls of over $2.7 million drawn by about 4,500 civilian construction workers and military men.

On top of this, the Boeing Co., one of the project contractors, is pouring $250,000 a month in local purchases into this normally quiet, agricultural economy.

The money is being used to dig and equip 150 big holes in a "C" shape around Minot Air Force Base, home for part of the Strategic Air Command, which will take over operation of the complex.

Average cost of one missile silo is $385,000. Each silo is designed to be used just once. A launch control center, buried 80 feet in the center of each 10-missile silo cluster, costs an average $670,000.

Criticism comes in many forms. But there's little fear among the North Dakotans of the deadly nuclear-tipped missiles that will hang ever alert for launching in these pasture hideaways about two years from now.

The Site Activation Task Force —SATAF—headed by Col. Thomas S. Jeffrey, 45-year-old space age veteran who recently commanded construction of the Atlas missile site around Spokane, Wash., is staging a mammoth public relations effort.

They hold community meetings and have an open door at all hours for complaints.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You've helped others. I hope you can help me.

My husband has gotten into a habit of plopping down on the sofa after supper to watch TV. He usually drinks about five or six cans of beer and falls asleep. When I get ready for bed I can't budge him.

He weighs 220 pounds and I might as well try to move an elephant. I've tried to wake him up but he's a terribly mean sleeper and he hits and kicks me.

In the morning when he wakes up and discovers he's in the living room he gets raving mad. He says his back aches because the sofa is lumpy and his feet hurt because he falls asleep with his shoes on.

When I tell him I tried to wake him up and get him to go to bed he doesn't believe me. I need help and I hope you can suggest something. — JESSIE.

Dear Jessie: Your husband is not exactly falling asleep. Passing out is more like it. You can't wake him up because he's in an alcoholic stupor.

If you could persuade him to cut down on the beer your other problem would be solved. In the meantime, get the sofa upholstered and take his shoes off.

Family Martyr

Dear Ann: I'm a 14-year-old girl who feels she is being taken advantage of. In July my aunt and uncle moved to this city from another town. They have four children. The oldest is 8 years of age and the baby is 2.

At first I was happy to help out because my aunt had a lot to do getting settled. I washed and fed the kids, and baby-sat with them during the day. I also sat evenings. I had to pass up going swimming and to the movies with my friends but I didn't complain because I knew I was needed.

Now my aunt expects me to be a nursemaid and a free sitter all the time. She doesn't even ask me. She tells my mother and I am ordered to go over there.

My mother says blood is thicker than water and I should not expect pay for helping relatives. I don't agree. If you say my mother is right I will stop complaining. Thank you. — NATALIE.

Dear Natalie: I do not feel that your mother is right and I'm not going to say she's right just because she's your mother.

Now that your aunt is settled, if she wants you to wash, feed or sit with her children she should pay you as she would pay any other sitter. I don't buy the theory that a blood relationship gives people the right to take advantage of one another.

Etiquette Question

Dear Ann: My daughter recently married a fine young fellow who lives in an Eastern city. She has gone there to live. The marriage was an elopement and I've never met the young man's parents.

They have received my daughter most graciously and from her glowing letters they must be wonderful people. Would it be proper for me to write to them? I would like to but I don't know how to phrase the letter. Your guidance would be deeply appreciated. — EDMONTON.

Dear Edmonton: According to formal procedure, the groom's parents are supposed to write to you. However, I feel strongly that a warm-hearted expression of friendship takes precedence over any rule of etiquette.

By all means write to the young man's parents and simply tell them how much you appreciate their kindness to your daughter. And don't forget to let them know you think their son is "a fine young fellow."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, ed, self-addressed envelope.

Statement Issued

Area Council Explains Girl Scout Withdrawal

Due to many inquiries concerning its withdrawl from affiliation with the National Girl Scout movement, the East Liverpool Area Council has prepared a statement explaining its position.

Following several open meetings during which the public was invited to participate and discuss all phases of the proposal of the national organization, in which the local council would have been abolished or combined with other communities, to form a large council, the local group voted withdrawal from the national group.

This proposed merger would have put all properties, monies and other resources under the control of the national group with the local council having very little voice in the use of the facilities.

"The change was decided after much deliberation and after each neighborhood group discussed the proposed changes individually. In explaining the issue, they were notified that the council would have been combined with that of Mahoning and Trumball counties, with just a small local representation on the Executive Board," the statement continued.

"The improvement, maintenance and distribution of all funds and properties would have been the privilege of the new group. Feeling that this would not be for the best interests of the girls, the group dropped the charter and planned another program, the Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

"The former scout organization was formed in 1944 by a group of women who dedicated their time and efforts in enlisting the help of the area in providing a good program for the girls of the local community.

"With less than 50 girls and no resources, they worked along with the support of the community, to develop the present organization. Properties, materials and labor were donated by local individuals to achieve a fine campsite complete with facilities for year-round camping," the statement said.

Mrs. David Beatty, acting president of the Area Council, said that the decision to withdraw "was not reached hastily, but followed a year of careful consideration of all facets, appeals to the national offices and citizens of East Liverpool." "Finally, accepting the fact that nothing could be accomplished by these measures, the local group along with other councils throughout the county, decided to withdraw."

Mrs. Beatty said that the local council will continue to provide and offer services to all girls in the area, which include Chester, Newell, Wellsville and West Point.

The local office is at 517 Broadway and those desiring information on the Camp Fire Girl program may call.

A public meeting will be conducted by Miss Harriet Dively of Grand Rapids, director of Camp Fire Girls, Tuesday at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Bishop Emeritus, 82, Claimed In Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Rev. J. Bower Showers, 82-year - old bishop emeritus of the Evangelical United Brethren Church's north central area, died in Miami Valley Hospital here Tuesday.

Bishop Showers served as spiritual leader of the area, with headquarters in Indianapolis, from 1945 to 154 when he retired.

The bishop was born in Paris, Ont., Canada, son of a minister.

A Dayton resident for 45 years, he was professor of New Testament literature and interpretation at Bonebrake Seminary 1910-26; associated editor of the EUB journal, Religious Telescope, 1926-33, and took over the EUB's Otterbein Press, virtually bankrupted in the Depression, and turned it into a going concern.

Dice lots of celery and heat with canned stewed tomatoes for a quick vegetable dish. The celery gives good contrasting texture. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Man's Convicted In Beating Death Of His Stepson

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Criminal court jury has convicted John A. Cooper, 42, former Fernald atomic plant worker, of second-degree murder in the beating death of his stepson.

Cooper sat without emotion Tuesday as the verdict was read. It came after two hours and 25 minutes of deliberation.

His attorney, Harry McIlwain, said he would file for a new trial.

Judge Simon Leis deferred sentencing Cooper until later.

Cooper was accused of killing John C. Jackson, 20, in a fight Jan. 21 in their North College Hill home after an argument about vacations.

The prosecution contended Cooper cut up the body and strewed the parts along roadsides in Georgia and Florida.

He was also charged with mutilation of a dead body but was tried first on the second-degree murder charge.

Conviction carries a penalty of life in prison with parole consideration after 10 years.

$2,500 Is Lost Down Drain In Fuss Over Car

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Parris wanted to buy one car. His wife wanted to buy another.

They argued Tuesday as they drove.

Suddenly Mrs. Parris gestured with the sack containing the family savings. "Buying that car," she said, speaking of her husband's choice, "would be like throwing money away."

Out the car window went the sack of money. It disappeared down a storm drain. In it, said Parris, was $2,500 in cash.

Parris slammed the car to a halt. Mrs. Parris jumped out, lunged for the money—and almost got stuck in the drain herself. They could see the sack, lying 15 feet away.

Parris called friends, sheriff's deputies and a road department crew to help him.

As they tried to reach the sack with sticks, a plumber's snake and a fishline, an attendant at a nearby gas station decided it was time to wash down his driveway with a hose. The water poured into a drain, down the drain, and to the sack.

As the would-be rescuers watched helplessly, the sack floated away.

Parris and his wife drove away —in their old car.

Ohio Gas Co. Asks To Enlarge Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Columbus, Ohio, has asked the Power Commission for authority to enlarge its facilities in Licking, Knox and Richland counties.

The proposal, made Tuesday, would increase pipeline facilities at a cost of $4,443,000, to, as the firm said, assure adequate service and ability to meet growing market requirements. Ohio Fuel serves 31 wholesale and 770, retail customers in 61 of Ohio's 88 counties.

55 Start Home Nursing Class

About 55 women of the Midland, Ohioville and Industry areas comprised two groups at the opening session of the Red Cross home nursing course Monday evening in the locker rooms of the new gymnasium of Midland High School.

Women unable to attend the first class may report next Monday at 7:30 p. m. It is open to all Civil Defense personnel, Girl Scouts over 15 and other interested women.

A large attendance will warrant forming a third class on another day of the week and assigning of another nurse as instructor, sponsors said.

The Industry Civil Defense Emergency Welfare Council is the sponsor and anyone desiring information may contact Mrs. Jack M. Peck, welfare chief.

Mrs. Karl Arnold and Mrs. Glenn Kraynie of Beaver Falls, registered nurses, instructed the classes on causes and symptoms of illness, making newspaper bags, washing the hands and taking temperature, pulse and respiration.

Manuals and booklets on emergency care of the sick and injured were distributed.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration is co-operating with the National Red Cross and other volunteer organizations throughout the country to offer the course, "Care of the Sick and Injured," to every household.

The individual training is a valuable home and community resource in time of any disaster, sponsors said.

GOP 'Five Dollar' Club To Meet Here

Dalrymple emphasized that all area Republicans are welcome, whether or not they hold membership.

$2,500 Is Lost Down Drain In Fuss Over Car

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Parris wanted to buy one car. His wife wanted to buy another.

They argued Tuesday as they drove.

Suddenly Mrs. Parris gestured with the sack containing the family savings. "Buying that car," she said, speaking of her husband's choice, "would be like throwing money away."

Out the car window went the sack of money. It disappeared down a storm drain. In it, said Parris, was $2,500 in cash.

Parris slammed the car to a halt. Mrs. Parris jumped out, lunged for the money—and almost got stuck in the drain herself. They could see the sack, lying 15 feet away.

Parris called friends, sheriff's deputies and a road department crew to help him.

As they tried to reach the sack with sticks, a plumber's snake and a fishline, an attendant at a nearby gas station decided it was time to wash down his driveway with a hose. The water poured into a drain, down the drain, and to the sack.

As the would-be rescuers watched helplessly, the sack floated away.

Parris and his wife drove away —in their old car.

Ohio Gas Co. Asks To Enlarge Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Columbus, Ohio, has asked the Power Commission for authority to enlarge its facilities in Licking, Knox and Richland counties.

The proposal, made Tuesday, would increase pipeline facilities at a cost of $4,443,000, to, as the firm said, assure adequate service and ability to meet growing market requirements. Ohio Fuel serves 31 wholesale and 770, retail customers in 61 of Ohio's 88 counties.

55 Start Home Nursing Class

About 55 women of the Midland, Ohioville and Industry areas comprised two groups at the opening session of the Red Cross home nursing course Monday evening in the locker rooms of the new gymnasium of Midland High School.

Women unable to attend the first class may report next Monday at 7:30 p. m. It is open to all Civil Defense personnel, Girl Scouts over 15 and other interested women.

A large attendance will warrant forming a third class on another day of the week and assigning of another nurse as instructor, sponsors said.

The Industry Civil Defense Emergency Welfare Council is the sponsor and anyone desiring information may contact Mrs. Jack M. Peck, welfare chief.

Mrs. Karl Arnold and Mrs. Glenn Kraynie of Beaver Falls, registered nurses, instructed the classes on causes and symptoms of illness, making newspaper bags, washing the hands and taking temperature, pulse and respiration.

Manuals and booklets on emergency care of the sick and injured were distributed.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration is co-operating with the National Red Cross and other volunteer organizations throughout the country to offer the course, "Care of the Sick and Injured," to every household.

The individual training is a valuable home and community resource in time of any disaster, sponsors said.

GOP 'Five Dollar' Club To Meet Here

The Columbiana County Republican "Five-dollar" club will hold its first quarterly meeting Monday at 8 p. m. in the Travelers Hotel.

Allen Dalrymple of Wellsville, president, will preside and give a progress report on membership.

Dr. John J. Carrigg, 18th District congressional candidate, will be principal speaker.

Dalrymple emphasized that all area Republicans are welcome, whether or not they hold membership.

Liston KO's Floyd In 1st For Fast Exchange Of Title

Champ Only Lasts 2:06 With Sonny

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—A new Charles (Sonny) Liston today promised to be a world heavyweight champion in shining armor and also to give Floyd Patterson a rematch as soon as possible.

A cruel-punching strong man, Liston, 28, slammed the door of sudden fame on a shady past Tuesday night by exploding the long-suspected Patterson myth in 126 seconds of their hullaballoed title match in Comiskey Park.

In the third fastest finish in heavyweight boxing history, 2:06 of the first round, Liston crumpled Patterson to the canvas with a couple of ponderous left hooks.

Before a disappointing paid crowd of 18,894 and a whopping closed circuit television audience had time to dig into their popcorn, the fight had ended in stunning fashion.

Perhaps not so stunning, because it long was felt that the canny Cus D'Amato, Patterson's guiding angel, had wrapped his boy in cotton. Floyd's championship path mainly avoided what real punchers were around since Patterson, then 21, first won the crown in 1956 by flattening an overstuffed Archie Moore.

Ingemar Johansson, whose "toonder right" unexpectedly dethroned Patterson in 1959, best described D'Amato's boy against the hulking Liston, who outweighted the champion, 214 to 189.

"Patterson looks like a little baby tonight," said Ingo, who may get a shot at Liston after the new champ has his return match with Patterson.

Patterson, whose catastrophic finish had been foreshadowed in 12 knockdowns in previous title bouts, wants another go at Liston within three months.

That could be a big mistake, except that, financially, Patterson could swell his lion's take as a loser by sharing a 30-30 split of the return match receipts.

Liston is ready at any time.

Liston had rushed over to Patterson after referee Frank Sikora threw his arms around the wobbly ex-champion following his knockout count.

"He told me if the public gives me a chance, I can be a worthy champion, maybe a better champion than he was.

"I think I can prove just that —if the public gives me a chance," added the poker-faced Liston.

The Comiskey Park gross receipts were announced as $665,420 and the net $556,119.95.

The big swag comes Thursday when the closed circuit television reports are filed. Patterson's take on the basis of the live gate and a guaranteed $2 million from television was an estimated $1,185,253 and Liston—pegged at a 12½ take of all net receipts — should get a minimum of $282,015.

Crowd Pulls For Robbie, But In Vain

LONDON (AP) — British fight fans talked again today of the ring artistry of Sugar Ray Robinson and almost felt sorry that their own brash young Terry Downes had shattered the Sugar Man's latest comeback bid.

Downes, 26, former holder of part of the world middleweight title, scored an overwhelming victory over the veteran Robinson at London's Indoor Wembley Stadium Tuesday night, but most of the cheers were reserved for "his sugarship," as one headline writer called him.

The normally partisan London crowd gave Robinson a great ovation as he left the ring and local fans were today calling for a return fight between the two.

Robinson, weighed in at 159 pounds against Downes' 161 but it was the 16 years' age difference that really told.

Jack Thomas, 37, new football coach at Hardin-Simmons, played the game at Baylor and at Tulsa.

Buckeyes, Irish, Syracuse Picked In Major Battles

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Can you ever recall a greater midweek sports extravaganza? Title fights . . . yacht racing . . . pennant clinchings . . . college and pro football classics!

It is enough to make one dizzy. At least dizzier than last week when 36 of 42 college football games that reached a decision were forecast correctly. That's an opening-of-the-season average of .857.

Here are this week's picks:

Ohio State over North Carolina: Sonny Gibbs of TCU tangle with Mira getting the more help.

Michigan State over Stanford: The Stanford comeback is derailed temporarily by a Spartan aggregation whose starters are the equal of any in the country.

Penn State over Air Force: The Pennsylvanians have center Joe Galardi and halfback Al Gursky injured but they won't be missed as the Lions move on toward a sweep of the service academies.

Mississippi over Kentucky: Jim Dunaway, Ole Miss tackle, is a living roadblock.

Georgia Tech over Florida: With Bill Lothridge doing the driving and Dave Watson directing the traffic up front, the Yellow Jackets are too much for the Gators.

Minnesota over Missouri: The Big Eight team surprised the Gophers, who went on to win the Rose Bowl game, a year ago. This time the element of surprise will be gone, but so is Sandy Stephens. However, Minnesota has enough left.

Alabama over Tulane: The Alabama defense is as tough as a dollar steak.

Washington over Illinois: The Huskies, like the New York baseball Yankees have an M-M combination. For Washington the names are Mitchell and Mansfield.

Texas over Texas Tech: Without trouble.

Southern California over Southern Methodist: The Trojans learned how by spilling Duke last week.

Clemson over North Carolina State: Clemson has two quarterbacks and NC State no longer has Roman Gabriel.

Louisiana State over Rice: The Rice Owls spilled the Tigers last year but they can't do it two years in a row.

The Ohioans were the Big Ten champions last season and have added the stars from the 1961 freshman team, one of the best ever, to their roster. The Big Teners are too big, too numerous and too good.

Princeton over Rutgers: These two started it all back there in 1869. For the past three years Rutgers has beaten Princeton but this time the Tigers get revenge.

Oklahoma over Notre Dame: The Irish still tinkering with their backfield. Oklahoma especially strong along the line which is led by Wayne Lee at center. The day's television morsel.

Syracuse over Army: It will take more than Chinese-style red hats to stop fullback Jim Nance.

Miami over Texas Christian: Two of the country's best quarterbacks, George Mira of Miami and

America Cup Stays In U.S.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Matilda will not waltz tonight.

The old America's Cup stays in its New York Yacht Club showcase until Britain takes the next crack at it, probably in a year or two.

An English challenge is expected, and yacht club officials said it would be accepted if it is received in the next 30 days.

The gallant Australian bid for the 111-year-old America's Cup ended in the gathering gloom off Newport Tuesday, when the American defender Weatherly ground the Aussie sloop Gretel into the sea by a half-mile margin.

The victory gave the Americans the cup series, four races to one.

It was the 18th unsuccessful challenge for the ornate old $500 silver mug.

The gallant Australian bid was doomed to join the ill-fated prewar challenges of Sir Thomas Lipton and T.O.M. Sopwith early in the final race.

Weatherly skipper Bus Mosbacher Jr., rated the best man in the world at handling a skittish sailing ship into the wind, jumped off to a lead within minutes after the start.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, collected four singles and a walk in five at-bats, scoring twice and driving in two runs as New York clinched the American League pennant by beating Washington 8-3.

PITCHING — Warren Spahn, Braves, limited New York Mets to seven hits in 7-3 victory, posting the 326th triumph of his career and moving into a tie with Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history.

Without Koufax Yankees May Hold Pitching Edge

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless Sandy Koufax makes a quick and complete recovery, the New York Yankees are likely to have an edge in pitching over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series opening Oct. 3.

On paper, the Dodgers have it all over the Yankees on the mound. Los Angeles pitchers have worked 43 complete games compared to only 32 for the Yankees. They have a combined earned run average of 3.63. The Yanks are at 3.72.

However, the figures are deceiving because Koufax' pre-injury showing makes the Dodgers' figures more attractive. Before he suffered a damaged finger on his pitching hand two months ago, the left-hander put together a 14-5 record, a 2.35 ERA and went the distance 11 times in 23 starts. But in his two appearances since then last week, Sandy yielded five runs in 2 2-3 innings and sustained his sixth setback.

The setup for the first three games is likely to be Whitey Ford (16-8), Ralph Terry (22-12) and Bill Stafford (14-8) for New York and Don Drysdale (25 - 8), Stan Williams (13-12) and Johnny Podres (14-12) for the Dodgers. Ford and Podres are the southpaws in this group. The combined won-lost records for the probable pitchers are: Yankees 52-28 and the Dodgers 52-32.

The Comiskey Park gross receipts were announced as $565,420 and the net $556,119.95.

The big swag comes Thursday when the closed circuit television reports are filed. Patterson's take on the basis of the live gate and a guaranteed $2 million from television was an estimated $1,185,253 and Liston—pegged at a 12½ take of all net receipts — should get a minimum of $282,015.

Crowd Pulls For Robbie, But In Vain

LONDON (AP) — British fight fans talked again today of the ring artistry of Sugar Ray Robinson and almost felt sorry that their own brash young Terry Downes had shattered the Sugar Man's latest comeback bid.

Downes, 26, former holder of part of the world middleweight title, scored an overwhelming victory over the veteran Robinson at London's Indoor Wembley Stadium Tuesday night, but most of the cheers were reserved for "his sugarship," as one headline writer called him.

The normally partisan London crowd gave Robinson a great ovation as he left the ring and local fans were today calling for a return fight between the two.

Robinson, weighed in at 159 pounds against Downes' 161 but it was the 16 years' age difference that really told.

Jack Thomas, 37, new football coach at Hardin-Simmons, played the game at Baylor and at Tulsa.

Buckeyes, Irish, Syracuse Picked In Major Battles

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Can you ever recall a greater midweek sports extravaganza? Title fights . . . yacht racing . . . pennant clinchings . . . college and pro football classics!

It is enough to make one dizzy. At least dizzier than last week when 36 of 42 college football games that reached a decision were forecast correctly. That's an opening-of-the-season average of .857.

Here are this week's picks:

Ohio State over North Carolina: The Ohioans were the Big Ten champions last season and have added the stars from the 1961 freshman team, one of the best ever, to their roster. The Big Tenners are too big, too numerous and too good.

Princeton over Rutgers: These two started it all back there in 1869. For the past three years Rutgers has beaten Princeton but this time the Tigers get revenge.

Oklahoma over Notre Dame: The Irish still tinkering with their backfield. Oklahoma especially strong along the line which is led by Wayne Lee at center. The day's television morsel.

Syracuse over Army: It will take more than Chinese-style red hats to stop fullback Jim Nance.

Miami over Texas Christian: Two of the country's best quarterbacks, George Mira of Miami and Sonny Gibbs of TCU tangle with Mira getting the more help.

Michigan State over Stanford: The Stanford comeback is derailed temporarily by a Spartan aggregation whose starters are the equal of any in the country.

Penn State over Air Force: The Pennsylvanians have center Joe Galardi and halfback Al Gursky injured but they won't be missed as the Lions move on toward a sweep of the service academies.

Mississippi over Kentucky: Jim Dunaway, Ole Miss tackle, is a living roadblock.

Georgia Tech over Florida: With Bill Lothridge doing the driving and Dave Watson directing the traffic up front, the Yellow Jackets are too much for the Gators.

Minnesota over Missouri: The Big Eight team surprised the Gophers, who went on to win the Rose Bowl game, a year ago. This time the element of surprise will be gone, but so is Sandy Stephens. However, Minnesota has enough left.

Alabama over Tulane: The Alabama defense is as tough as a dollar steak.

Washington over Illinois: The Huskies, like the New York baseball Yankees have an M-M combination. For Washington the names are Mitchell and Mansfield.

Texas over Texas Tech: Without trouble.

Southern California over Southern Methodist: The Trojans learned how by spilling Duke last week.

Clemson over North Carolina State: Clemson has two quarterbacks and NC State no longer has Roman Gabriel.

Louisiana State over Rice: The Rice Owls spilled the Tigers last year but they can't do it two years in a row.

America Cup Stays In U.S.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Matilda will not waltz tonight.

The old America's Cup stays in its New York Yacht Club showcase until Britain takes the next crack at it, probably in a year or two.

An English challenge is expected, and yacht club officials said it would be accepted if it is received in the next 30 days.

The gallant Australian bid for the 111-year-old America's Cup ended in the gathering gloom off Newport Tuesday, when the American defender Weatherly ground the Aussie sloop Gretel into the sea by a half-mile margin.

The victory gave the Americans the cup series, four races to one.

It was the 18th unsuccessful challenge for the ornate old $500 silver mug.

The gallant Australian bid was doomed to join the ill-fated prewar challenges of Sir Thomas Lipton and T.O.M. Sopwith early in the final race.

Weatherly skipper Bus Mosbacher Jr., rated the best man in the world at handling a skittish sailing ship into the wind, jumped off to a lead within minutes after the start.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, collected four singles and a walk in five at-bats, scoring twice and driving in two runs as New York clinched the American League pennant by beating Washington 8-3.

PITCHING — Warren Spahn, Braves, limited New York Mets to seven hits in 7-3 victory, posting the 326th triumph of his career and moving into a tie with Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history.

Without Koufax Yankees May Hold Pitching Edge

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless Sandy Koufax makes a quick and complete recovery, the New York Yankees are likely to have an edge in pitching over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series opening Oct. 3.

On paper, the Dodgers have it all over the Yankees on the mound. Los Angeles pitchers have worked 43 complete games compared to only 32 for the Yankees. They have a combined earned run average of 3.63. The Yanks are at 3.72.

However, the figures are deceiving because Koufax' pre-injury showing makes the Dodgers' figures more attractive. Before he suffered a damaged finger on his pitching hand two months ago, the left-hander put together a 14-5 record, a 2.35 ERA and went the distance 11 times in 23 starts. But in his two appearances since then last week, Sandy yielded five runs in 2 2-3 innings and sustained his sixth setback.

The setup for the first three games is likely to be Whitey Ford (16-8), Ralph Terry (22-12) and Bill Stafford (14-8) for New York and Don Drysdale (25 - 8), Stan Williams (13-12) and Johnny Podres (14-12) for the Dodgers. Ford and Podres are the southpaws in this group. The combined won-lost records for the probable pitchers are: Yankees 52-28 and the Dodgers 52-32.

Bombers Trim Nats, 8-3; Rival Twins Beaten 5-1 By Tribe

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

They finally did it.

The New York Yankees finally clinched the 1962 American League pennant.

As a rousing anticlimax to a lackluster campaign, the Yankees got the one they needed Tuesday night by beating Washington's last place Senators 8-3.

Two of the Yankees' long-time stars, left-hander Whitey Ford and slugger Mickey Mantle, led the Bombers to the deciding victory. Ford was the winning pitcher, Mantle paced the 16-hit attack with four singles.

Moments after the final out, and with the flag safely in Yankee possession, the Cleveland Indians polished off New York's closest pursuers, the Minnesota Twins, 5-1. That left the Yanks 5½ games in front with four to play.

For the Yankees, perhaps the most highly favored pennant choice since they started playing Abner Doubleday's pasttime for keeps, it is their 27th league title, their 12th in the last 14 years and their third straight.

But it was a long time coming. Slowed down by injuries to Mantle, Ford and last year's relief standout, Luis Arroyo, and hampered by subpar play on the part of several other key men, the Yankees never were really able to take charge. Dawdling along on their own, and forced to withstand the surprise challenges of the Twins and the Los Angeles Angels, what was expected to be a season-long romp became a season-long struggle.

Detroit nipped Los Angeles 3-2 when Al Kaline tripled in two unearned runs after two were out in the last of the ninth inning and Boston blanked Chicago 4-0 on Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching. Kansas City at Baltimore was postponed because of threatening weather.

Pedro Ramos, an ex-Twin, beat Minnesota on seven hits and bested his fellow Cuban and former teammate, Camilo Pascual, who was after his 20th victory. Harmon Killebrew shot the Twins into a brief lead when he hit his 46th homer in the top of the second but the Indians took command in their half of the inning on Woodie Held's two-run homer.

LA's Magic Number Is 4

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Walt Alston, the close-to-the-vest Los Angeles manager, turned riverboat gambler in a bold bid to deal his first-place Dodgers a step closer to the National League pennant jackpot with an ace-in-the-hole hand. But second-place San Francisco picked up the chips.

Alston named his ace, 25-game winner Don Drysdale, to start against Houston Tuesday night with only one day's rest. Drysdale succeeded in his iron-man effort, but Al Spangler ruined Alston's hand with a 10th inning home run off Ed Roebuck that gave the Colts a 3-2 decision over the Dodgers.

The defeat trimmed a full game off Los Angeles' lead and left them only two games in front of the pursuing Giants, who closed in as Willie Mays continued his hot hitting and Jack Sanford posted his 23rd triumph in a 4-2 decision over St. Louis.

The loss left the Dodgers' pennant-clinching number at four. Any combination of four Los Angeles victories or San Francisco defeats will clinch it for the Dodgers. Each team has five games remaining.

The winner will face the New York Yankees, who clinched their 27th American League pennant — their third in a row—by whipping Washington 8-3 while second-place Minnesota took a 5-1 pasting from the Cleveland Indians. Either result would have ended the race. The combination gave the Yanks a 5½ game lead.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's defending champions nailed down third place by edging Pittsburgh 2-1 as Bob Purkey posted his 23rd victory, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn tied Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history by recording his 326th career triumph, 7-3 over the New York Mets. Chicago and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Drysdale, who last pitched Sunday and was making his third start in six days, gave up a run in the first on a walk, an error by Maury Wills, Norm Larker's force out and an error by Larry Burright. The Dodgers evened it in the sixth when Wills beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and stole home—his 99th theft. The Colts moved back out front in the seventh as J. C. Hartman beat out a bunt and came across on a triple by Spangler. Singles by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro got the Dodgers even again in their half.

It stayed that way until the 10th when Roebuck made his appearance sporting a 10-0 record. He got Carl Warwick to ground out, but Spangler lined a homer into the right field stands to win it and tag Roebuck with his first loss since Aug 8, 1960. Dick Farrell 10-19, a former Dodger, went the distance for the victory.

At San Francisco, the Cardinals broke out front against Sanford (23-7) with a run in the fifth on singles by Ken Boyer and Gary Kolb plus a run-producing double play. But the Giants moved ahead to stay in the sixth with two runs off Ernie Broglio (11-9) on singles by Chuck Hiller, Matty Alou, Mays and Orlando Cepeda. A seventh-inning run for the Giants on a double by Tom Haller and Harvey Kuenn's single turned out to be the decisive tally when Bill White homered for St. Louis in the ninth.

Spahn Equals Plank's Mark

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee wonder Warren Spahn has reached another milestone in his fabulous career and has no intentions of ending his assault on baseball records. Already he's looking forward to 1962.

"I'm not ready to quit; I want to win 20 next year," Spahn said Tuesday night after he tied Eddie Plank as history's top left-handed winner and stopped the New York Mets 7-3 for his 326th lifetime victory.

With a start against Pittsburgh scheduled for Saturday, the 41-year-old pitching marvel has a chance to become undisputed king of the southpaws before heading for his Hartshorne, Okla., ranch for the winter.

One more victory will enable Spahn to take sole possession of ninth place among all-time winners from Plank, who won 326, including 21 in the outlaw Federal League, from 1901-17. Plank had 305 victories for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League.

With a 17-14 record, the southpaw ace who won his first game for the Braves in 1946, reviewed what he called a "whacky year." Half of his losses have been by one run and two others were 2-0 and 3-1 decisions.

"It's been kind of a dismal season all around," he said. "The club finishing fifth and my failing to win 20 for the fourth time since my first full year with it has made it that way.

"I haven't pitched a shutout and I've lost one-run games that I should have won, but I hesitate to call it hard luck. When you start feeling sorry for yourself, you're in trouble. Hard luck or no hard luck, actually I think I've pitched more consistently this season—whether better or not I don't know."

Eagles' Passer To Test Browns' Defense Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — There isn't much doubt in the minds of the Cleveland Browns that Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles at Franklin Field will severely test the Browns' pass defense.

Sonny Jurgensen, Philadelphia quarterback, has been the league's most prolific passer in the Eagles' losses to St. Louis and New York. His 57 tosses against the Giants last Sunday came within three of tying the National Football League mark.

Philadelphia is way out in front in the NFL in yards gained through the air with 638. However, they have made just 65 net yards rushing.

EL Harriers Top Weirton

The East Liverpool high cross-country team captured its second straight meet to run its string to 5-0 with a 22-33 decision of Weirton Tuesday at the East Liverpool Country Club.

Coach Frank Chan's forces were paced by Roger Linville who crossed the finish line first in a time of 9:57 while Joe Ingram was a close second with 9:59.

Other Potter runners placing were Dick Deem, fourth, Bruce McCoy fifth and Joe Massey tenth.

The Potters meet Aliquippa Thursday on their home course.

Sophomore Gridder Treated For Injury

Tom Logan, a sophomore back on the East Liverpool High squad was treated at City Hospital Tuesday for contusions of the left shoulder suffered during practice.

New President Is Elected For Women's Golf

Mrs. Betty Madden was elected president of the Women's Golf Club of the East Palestine Country Club at a closing dinner meeting Monday night attended by 40. She succeeds Mrs. Clara Archibald.

Others named were Mrs. Edna Hirt, vice president; Mrs. Ethel Meek, secretary, and Mrs. Mary Herriott, treasurer. Mrs. Helen Sanford was retained as a director.

Silver bowls were awarded to winners of three sections of an 18-hole playoff: Edith Welch, Mary Rukenbrod and Mrs. Herriott.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's defending champions nailed down third place by edging Pittsburgh 2-1 as Bob Purkey posted his 23rd victory, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn tied Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history by recording his 326th career triumph, 7-3 over the New York Mets. Chicago and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Drysdale, who last pitched Sunday and was making his third start in six days, gave up a run in the first on a walk, an error by Maury Wills, Norm Larker's force out and an error by Larry Burright. The Dodgers evened it in the sixth when Wills beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and stole home—his 99th theft. The Colts moved back out front in the seventh as J. C. Hartman beat out a bunt and came across on a triple by Spangler. Singles by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro got the Dodgers even again in their half.

It stayed that way until the 10th when Roebuck made his appearance sporting a 10-0 record. He got Carl Warwick to ground out, but Spangler lined a homer into the right field stands to win it and tag Roebuck with his first loss since Aug 8, 1960. Dick Farrell 10-19, a former Dodger, went the distance for the victory.

At San Francisco, the Cardinals broke out front against Sanford (23-7) with a run in the fifth on singles by Ken Boyer and Gary Kolb plus a run-producing double play. But the Giants moved ahead to stay in the sixth with two runs off Ernie Broglio (11-9) on singles by Chuck Hiller, Matty Alou, Mays and Orlando Cepeda. A seventh-inning run for the Giants on a double by Tom Haller and Harvey Kuenn's single turned out to be the decisive tally when Bill White homered for St. Louis in the ninth.

Spahn Equals Plank's Mark

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee wonder Warren Spahn has reached another milestone in his fabulous career and has no intentions of ending his assault on baseball records. Already he's looking forward to 1962.

"I'm not ready to quit; I want to win 20 next year," Spahn said Tuesday night after he tied Eddie Plank as history's top left-handed winner and stopped the New York Mets 7-3 for his 326th lifetime victory.

With a start against Pittsburgh scheduled for Saturday, the 41-year-old pitching marvel has a chance to become undisputed king of the southpaws before heading for his Hartshorne, Okla., ranch for the winter.

One more victory will enable Spahn to take sole possession of ninth place among all-time winners from Plank, who won 326, including 21 in the outlaw Federal League, from 1901-17. Plank had 305 victories for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League.

With a 17-14 record, the southpaw ace who won his first game for the Braves in 1946, reviewed what he called a "whacky year." Half of his losses have been by one run and two others were 2-0 and 3-1 decisions.

"It's been kind of a dismal season all around," he said. "The club finishing fifth and my failing to win 20 for the fourth time since my first full year with it has made it that way.

"I haven't pitched a shutout and I've lost one-run games that I should have won, but I hesitate to call it hard luck. When you start feeling sorry for yourself, you're in trouble. Hard luck or no hard luck, actually I think I've pitched more consistently this season—whether better or not I don't know."

The Potters meet Aliquippa Thursday on their home course.

Eagles' Passer To Test Browns' Defense Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — There isn't much doubt in the minds of the Cleveland Browns that Sunday's game against the Philadelphia Eagles at Franklin Field will severely test the Browns' pass defense.

Sonny Jurgensen, Philadelphia quarterback, has been the league's most prolific passer in the Eagles' losses to St. Louis and New York. His 57 tosses against the Giants last Sunday came within three of tying the National Football League mark.

Philadelphia is way out in front in the NFL in yards gained through the air with 638. However, they have made just 65 net yards rushing.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Squirrel season, which opened during the summer, has entered the first part of fall. The cool days we have been experiencing are much better than sweating it out while waiting for a bushy tail to show up.

A few hunters claim the squirrel population seems better this season than last. Could be, but I don't see too many hunters with more than one or two squirrels.

Deer hunters, using bow and arrow, will enjoy a long season of hunting—Oct. 15 through Dec. 31. Serango's Sinclair service station at Lisbon has been the designated station for bow hunters to take their deer, after being killed, and have the carcass officially sealed before it is legally theirs.

IT MAY BE dressed out in the field and allowed to cool off before being moved. The next procedure is to have it officially sealed. Then you may do what you please with it, except sell the meat.

Only one deer is allowed whether taken with bow and arrow or by gun during the gunning season Dec. 13 and 14.

Bow hunters must observe shooting hours during the gun season for deer—9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Bow hunting is permitted from daylight to dark on other days during the bow season.

Pheasants and rabbits seem to be more plentiful this year, probably because of the excellent nesting season since early spring.

Several broods have been seen in the hilly section, primarily where a good bit of grain is being grown. It just goes to show when the food supply is present the environment doesn't make a big difference.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS report kicking up a few grouse in the southern part of the county. To me, grouse hunting about tops them all.

The season on ruffed grouse is Oct. 15 through Feb. 23. The bag limit is three, but if you happen to bag three in one day you consider yourself lucky. Grouse may be taken from daylight until dark, except during the gun season for deer when all daytime hunting begins at 9 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m.

Unless you know one duck from the other in flight, you had better be extra cautious this season.

I do not have an official order regarding ducks at this time, so as to avoid all errors on my part I won't go into lengthy detail. A few things I have learned, however.

Only one mallard will be allowed in possession if it is a green-head or a black mallard. Two woodducks may be included in the bag this year, along with four scaup (bluebills). I'll have more to say after I get the printed facts in hand.

Gabe Paul Ready To Buy Large Share Of Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gabe Paul, affable general manager of the Cleveland Indians, is negotiating for a big block of stock in the Indians. Reports are that he and a group of associates will take control of the club within a month.

While Paul declined to discuss the matter—other than to say he was negotiating for a substantial interest and that he was not alone in the deal—club president William R. Daley added substance to the reports.

"Gabe now has the responsibility. . . Now he's in a position to call the shots. I've always felt the man with the responsibility should have a major financial interest in the operation. I've found it makes a big difference."

The transaction for 55 per cent of the stock will involve $3 million, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported. This would put the total value of Indian stock at about $5.5 million.

Daley, whose group reportedly owns two-thirds of the Tribe's 6,000 shares, said he will "sell whatever number of shares are needed to give Gabe the amount he wants."

Kennedys Like Musical Comedy 'Mr. President'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedys, who live in the White House, said they liked "Mr. President," the new musical comedy about a fictional chief executive.

They saw the show Tuesday night and the President said he thought it "very good."

The hep Washington audience didn't seem to take too happily to the mythical "Mr. President." But no matter what anybody thought of the show, which brought songwriter Irving Berlin, 74, out of retirement, the preview benefit was a smash hit.

Celebrities, socialites and top officials in glamorous black tie attire jammed the National Theater to see the fictional First Family on the stage and President and Mrs. Kennedy in persons.

Robert Ryan played the president and Nanette Fabray his wife in the Russel Crouse-Howard Lindsay musical.

The 600, who bought orchestra seats at $100 a ticket—joined the Kennedys at a jammed but gay champagne supper dance at the British Embassy.

The President and his wife stayed until 2:40 a.m. joining in the dancing to many Berlin tunes of yesteryear.

3 Homes Destroyed By Fire In Troubled St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Fire destroyed three homes Tuesday night as scores of officers continued to patrol troubled suburban Kinloch, scene of a demonstration by a mob incensed over the police killing of a Negro youth.

Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee called the fires the work of arsonists. There were no injuries.

Police early today arrested two of three men seen fleeing from a house fire.

Officers said Joseph Houston, 23, admitted setting four fire. He was booked on suspicion of arson. Police said Daniel Carter, 16, admitted setting one fire. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

A shotgun blast wounded three white officers and a Negro bystander Tuesday morning as the officers moved to break up a crowd of about 200 Negroes. None of the wounded was hurt critically.

Negroes had gathered near the police station, shouting, "We want Mason." Chief of Police Roosevelt Hoskins said "there was a lot of yelling and scuffling. They began calling names at the policemen."

The violence in the all-Negro community stemmed from the shooting of Darnell Dortch, 20, by police officer Israel Mason, 74, Sunday. Mason, a Negro, resigned Tuesday. He said Dortch refused to accept a careless driving warrant and was shot as they fought for possession of Mason's pistol.

Mayor Lee said no racial angles were involved in the demonstrations.

Fairview Grange Places 3rd In Community Aid Contest

The Fairview Grange in Ohioville Borough has won third place in the community service contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Grange, F. Paul Dawson, Fairview master, announced.

About 447 Granges participated in the contest which ended Sept. 1. Dawson was notified by J. Collins McSparren, state grange master, of Fairview's rating.

The Grange won for its eight projects which took over 12,000 manhours. The three major projects are:

(1) Organized a community Christmas committee with 21 organizations and churches of the Western Beaver County School District participating.

(2) Obtained 32 pledges to the Beaver County Eye Bank of the Lighthouse for the Blind, eight of which were from East Liverpool, which also expects to have an eye bank affiliated with the Youngstown district. Cornea transplants from the eyes of Glenn Hammond, a Grange member who died in August, have helped two persons. Thirteen pairs of eyeglass frames were collected.

(3) A horse show ring was added to the Fairview Grange fairgrounds. Other projects concerned church, Civil Defense, youth, home economics and the Grange Fair.

Mrs. Sam McKinney is chairman and Mrs. June Knott and Mrs. Jane Schoel, co-chairmen, of the Grange's community service committee.

The Grange will receive a plaque and a $50 Savings Bond. Next meeting is Tuesday.

Rhodes Reveals Figures In Ohio Production Loss

CLEVELAND (AP)—James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor, says U. S. Department of Commerce statistics show Ohio dropped from second to third place in production among the country's industrial states in 1960.

Speaking at a rally at Brush High School in suburban Lyndhurst Tuesday night, Rhodes said the statistics were from a recently published report and were "chilling evidence of need for the new jobs and industrial development program I have offered."

He blamed the DiSalle administration for the decline.

"Ohio recorded a sharp loss in value added by manufacture during the 1958 recession," Rhodes said, "but recovered well the following year, thanks to a good industrial climate. The damage inflicted on that climate by the bickering and threatening of the present administration now has Ohio going down hill."

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Squirrel season, which opened during the summer, has entered the first part of fall. The cool days we have been experiencing are much better than sweating it out while waiting for a bushy tail to show up.

A few hunters claim the squirrel population seems better this season than last. Could be, but I don't see too many hunters with more than one or two squirrels.

Deer hunters, using bow and arrow, will enjoy a long season of hunting—Oct. 15 through Dec. 31. Serango's Sinclair service station at Lisbon has been the designated station for bow hunters to take their deer, after being killed, and have the carcass officially sealed before it is legally theirs.

IT MAY BE dressed out in the field and allowed to cool off before being moved. The next procedure is to have it officially sealed. Then you may do what you please with it, except sell the meat.

Only one deer is allowed whether taken with bow and arrow or by gun during the gunning season Dec. 13 and 14.

Bow hunters must observe shooting hours during the gun season for deer—9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Bow hunting is permitted from daylight to dark on other days during the bow season.

Pheasants and rabbits seem to be more plentiful this year, probably because of the excellent nesting season since early spring.

Several broods have been seen in the hilly section, primarily where a good bit of grain is being grown. It just goes to show when the food supply is present the environment doesn't make a big difference.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS report kicking up a few grouse in the southern part of the county. To me, grouse hunting about tops them all.

The season on ruffed grouse is Oct. 15 through Feb. 23. The bag limit is three, but if you happen to bag three in one day you consider yourself lucky. Grouse may be taken from daylight until dark, except during the gun season for deer when all daytime hunting begins at 9 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m.

Unless you know one duck from the other in flight, you had better be extra cautious this season.

I do not have an official order regarding ducks at this time, so as to avoid all errors on my part I won't go into lengthy detail. A few things I have learned, however.

Only one mallard will be allowed in possession if it is a green-head or a black mallard. Two woodducks may be included in the bag this year, along with four scaup (bluebills). I'll have more to say after I get the printed facts in hand.

Gabe Paul Ready To Buy Large Share Of Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gabe Paul, affable general manager of the Cleveland Indians, is negotiating for a big block of stock in the Indians. Reports are that he and a group of associates will take control of the club within a month.

While Paul declined to discuss the matter—other than to say he was negotiating for a substantial interest and that he was not alone in the deal—club president William R. Daley added substance to the reports.

"Gabe now has the responsibility. . . Now he's in a position to call the shots. I've always felt the man with the responsibility should have a major financial interest in the operation. I've found it makes a big difference."

The transaction for 55 per cent of the stock will involve $3 million, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported. This would put the total value of Indian stock at about $5.5 million.

Daley, whose group reportedly owns two-thirds of the Tribe's 6,000 shares, said he will "sell whatever number of shares are needed to give Gabe the amount he wants."

Kennedys Like Musical Comedy 'Mr. President'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedys, who live in the White House, said they liked "Mr. President," the new musical comedy about a fictional chief executive.

They saw the show Tuesday night and the President said he thought it "very good."

The hep Washington audience didn't seem to take too happily to the mythical "Mr. President." But no matter what anybody thought of the show, which brought songwriter Irving Berlin, 74, out of retirement, the preview benefit was a smash hit.

Celebrities, socialites and top officials in glamorous black tie attire jammed the National Theater to see the fictional First Family on the stage and President and Mrs. Kennedy in persons.

The glittering benefit audience contributed more than $70,000 to a favorite Kennedy family charity to aid retarded children.

The 600, who bought orchestra seats at $100 a ticket—joined the Kennedys at a jammed but gay champagne supper dance at the British Embassy.

The President and his wife stayed until 2:40 a.m. joining in the dancing to many Berlin tunes of yesteryear.

3 Homes Destroyed By Fire In Troubled St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Fire destroyed three homes Tuesday night as scores of officers continued to patrol troubled suburban Kinloch, scene of a demonstration by a mob incensed over the police killing of a Negro youth.

Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee called the fires the work of arsonists. There were no injuries.

Police early today arrested two of three men seen fleeing from a house fire.

Officers said Joseph Houston, 23, admitted setting four fire. He was booked on suspicion of arson. Police said Daniel Carter, 15, admitted setting one fire. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

A shotgun blast wounded three white officers and a Negro bystander Tuesday morning as the officers moved to break up a crowd of about 200 Negroes. None of the wounded was hurt critically.

Negroes had gathered near the police station, shouting, "We want Mason." Chief of Police Roosevelt Hoskins said "there was a lot of yelling and scuffling. They began calling names at the policemen."

The violence in the all-Negro community stemmed from the shooting of Darnell Dortch, 20, by police officer Israel Mason, 74, Sunday. Mason, a Negro, resigned Tuesday. He said Dortch refused to accept a careless driving warrant and was shot as they fought for possession of Mason's pistol.

Mayor Lee said no racial angles were involved in the demonstrations.

Fairview Grange Places 3rd In Community Aid Contest

The Fairview Grange in Ohioville Borough has won third place in the community service contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Grange, F. Paul Dawson, Fairview master, announced.

About 447 Granges participated in the contest which ended Sept. 1. Dawson was notified by J. Collins McSparren, state grange master, of Fairview's rating.

The Grange won for its eight projects which took over 12,000 manhours. The three major projects are:

(1) Organized a community Christmas committee with 21 organizations and churches of the Western Beaver County School District participating.

(2) Obtained 32 pledges to the Beaver County Eye Bank of the Lighthouse for the Blind, eight of which were from East Liverpool, which also expects to have an eye bank affiliated with the Youngstown district. Cornea transplants from the eyes of Glenn Hammond, a Grange member who died in August, have helped two persons. Thirteen pairs of eyeglass frames were collected.

(3) A horse show ring was added to the Fairview Grange fairgrounds. Other projects concerned church, Civil Defense, youth, home economics and the Grange Fair.

Mrs. Sam McKinney is chairman and Mrs. June Knott and Mrs. Jane Scheel, co-chairmen, of the Grange's community service committee.

The Grange will receive a plaque and a $50 Savings Bond. Next meeting is Tuesday.

Rhodes Reveals Figures In Ohio Production Loss

CLEVELAND (AP)—James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor, says U. S. Department of Commerce statistics show Ohio dropped from second to third place in production among the country's industrial states in 1960.

Speaking at a rally at Brush High School in suburban Lyndhurst Tuesday night, Rhodes said the statistics were from a recently published report and were "chilling evidence of need for the new jobs and industrial development program I have offered."

He blamed the DiSalle administration for the decline.

"Ohio recorded a sharp loss in value added by manufacture during the 1958 recession," Rhodes said, "but recovered well the following year. Banks to a good industrial climate. The damage inflicted on that climate by the bickering and threatening of the present administration now has Ohio going down hill."

Amvit Stock Deal Delayed

Efforts of the General Waterworks Corp. of Philadelphia to acquire control of the American Vitrified Products Co. have been deferred until the firm can buy more stock in the Cleveland concern.

The Philadelphia firm found it lacked sufficient shares for 51 per cent control and has extended its offer to purchase more stock — but no shares have been offered for sale with about $20 bid in the over-the-counter market. It needs 3,120 shares.

Howard Butcher III, president of General Waterworks, which operates 90 water firms in 18 states, reported his firm now owns more than 111,000 of American Vitrified's 228,551 outstanding shares.

On last Aug. 24, it had invited American Vitrified stockholders to sell their shares below $24, setting a deadline of Sept. 24.

"We have picked up more than 23,000 shares since August. We must have more than half the stock to effect consolidation," he said.

Earlier, Butcher had explained that his company, regardless of its present holdings, cannot show in its financial statement any earnings from its American Vitrified investment, over and above any dividends received, unless and until General Waterworks owns more than 50 per cent of American Vitrified. Then, the Cleveland company's results could be included for statement purposes with General Waterworks earnings.

American Vitrified, which from Cleveland directs its plants' operations across the country, including a plant in East Liverpool, makes clay pipes and reinforced concrete sewer pipes.

The Music Parents Association erected the new concrete block refreshments stand in a project which began earlier in the year.

Nominated by the football squad were Donna Chuck and Joyce Henthorne of West Point, Danella Dailey of Apples Corners and Judy Allen of Calcutta.

Twenty, representing 12 4-H clubs in the county, attended at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Glenn of State Route 2 near Chester.

The president is a leader of the Cherokee 4-H Club. Other officers elected were Mrs. Wayland Lancaster (Elwood), vice president; Mrs. Earl Jones (Hilltop Ramblers), secretary, and Miss Kathryn Minesinger, a clerk in the Agricultural Extension Service office, treasurer.

About 200 are expected at the annual banquet Thursday night at 6:30 in the Weirton Community Center, with a buffet dinner to be served. Awards will be presented for outstanding club work and leadership.

Plans were also discussed for a Regional 4-H Leaders Conference set tentatively Nov. 3 at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. Mrs. Ruth McPherson, Hancock 4-H leader, is chairman. Her assistants are Mrs. Wayland Lancaster and Mrs. James Arehart. Representatives will be present from Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Pleasants, Tyler and Wetzel Counties. Mrs. C. P. Dorsey, state leader, will be in charge. Plans will be furthered at a meeting of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio leaders today in Brooke County.

The group may purchase litter bags to be distributed in March during observance of National 4-H Club Week. Work is continuing on a cleanup project at the county seat.

FBI Arrests Man In New Jersey For Ohio Fraud

VENTNOR CITY, N.J. (AP)—A man accused of a $2,000 embezzlement in Ohio has been arrested by FBI agents here.

Arrested Tuesday on a federal complaint charging him with fleeing Ohio to avoid prosecution for the crime of embezzlement was Richard Wilson Edwards, 48.

R. W. Bachman, in charge of the Newark office of the FBI, said the complaint was filed before a U.S. commissioner in Cleveland July 12.

According to Bachman, authorities at Mansfield, Ohio, have accused Edwards of embezzling over $2,000 in cash from the Holiday Inn at Mansfield, where he was employed as restaurant manager.

Bachman said that Edwards has been residing here with his family for the past two weeks under the name of Jerry Lessor.

The suspect was being held in City Jail pending arraignment today before U.S. Commissioner Charles L. Rudd of Camden.

If you like to "doctor" baked beans, there are a good many savory ingredients with which you can heat the beans. Choose among chopped onion and green pepper, sliced ripe olives, bits of crisply cooked bacon, finely sliced celery.

DiSalle Cites $6 Million Need In Mental Health

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle equates what he believes to be the amount needed to improve the present mental health and retardation program in Ohio with that spent last year in the state for lipstick.

The figure is $6 million, DiSalle said Tuesday in a campaign tour through Stark County.

"If a child is born well, money would be spent for his education. If a child is born sick, shouldn't the same money be used to pay for care for him: But because he is sick, we save that money now."

DiSalle, running, for re-election against Republican State Auditor James A. Rhodes, defended his administration, saying:

"What we have done we have done with deep study and reason and the reasons will stand up."

He called Ohio's financial situation sound, compared with the bonded indebtedness of other states.

Besides Massillon, DiSalle made stops at Malone College in Canton, Canal Fulton, Brewster, Beach City and Navarre.

Owner Penalized On Lot Condition

SALINEVILLE — An E. Main St. lot owner, cited for permitting weeds and stagnant water on his property, was fined a total of $30 and costs Tuesday night by Mayor Stanley Fitch.

Pete Owens was fined $5 and costs on a charge of failure to clear noxious weeds from an E. Main St. lot after he pleaded guilty. Mayor Fitch said the fine was the minimum because Owens cleared the lot yesterday.

He was fined $25 and costs—with $20 suspended—on a charge of permitting stagnant water to collect. Owens, who pleaded not guilty, was given the suspended fine on condition a foundation of a former house — burned a few years ago — be either filled or properly drained.

Refreshments were served 75 by a committee headed by Mrs. Hans Hacker and Mrs. Lillian Waggoner.

Next meeting is Oct. 23.

Hancock Banquet Set

New Term In 4-H Given To Mrs. Mary Schladen

Mrs. Mary Schladen of Lawrenceville was re-elected president and plans were announced for the annual Achievement Day banquet when the Hancock County 4-H Leaders Association met Tuesday night.

Twenty, representing 12 4-H clubs in the county, attended at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Glenn of State Route 2 near Chester.

The president is a leader of the Cherokee 4-H Club. Other officers elected were Mrs. Wayland Lancaster (Elwood), vice president; Mrs. Earl Jones (Hilltop Ramblers), secretary, and Miss Kathryn Minesinger, a clerk in the Agricultural Extension Service office, treasurer.

About 200 are expected at the annual banquet Thursday night at 6:30 in the Weirton Community Center, with a buffet dinner to be served. Awards will be presented for outstanding club work and leadership.

Atty. Martin Fahey of Weirton, county chairman for the West Virginia Centennial in 1963, will be speaker. The theme of the event is "4-H in the West Virginia Centennial." Mrs. Lawson Miller of Chester will be toastmistress, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones will be in charge of registration.

Plans were also discussed for a Regional 4-H Leaders Conference set tentatively Nov. 3 at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. Mrs. Ruth McPherson, Hancock 4-H leader, is chairman. Her assistants are Mrs. Wayland Lancaster and Mrs. James Arehart. Representatives will be present from Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Pleasants, Tyler and Wetzel Counties. Mrs. C. P. Dorsey, state leader, will be in charge. Plans will be furthered at a meeting of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio leaders today in Brooke County.

The group may purchase litter bags to be distributed in March during observance of National 4-H Club Week. Work is continuing on a cleanup project at the county seat.

Mrs. Kenneth Timberlake led devotions. A wiener roast followed business and the Glenns served homemade ice cream.

Further plans were discussed for the Kiwanis pancake supper Nov. 7-8. John Brand and Tom Martin, Key Club members, were guests.

FBI Arrests Man In New Jersey For Ohio Fraud

VENTNOR CITY, N.J. (AP)—A man accused of a $2,000 embezzlement in Ohio has been arrested by FBI agents here.

Arrested Tuesday on a federal complaint charging him with fleeing Ohio to avoid prosecution for the crime of embezzlement was Richard Wilson Edwards, 48.

R. W. Bachman, in charge of the Newark office of the FBI, said the complaint was filed before a U.S. commissioner in Cleveland July 12.

According to Bachman, authorities at Mansfield, Ohio, have accused Edwards of embezzling over $2,000 in cash from the Holiday Inn at Mansfield, where he was employed as restaurant manager.

Bachman said that Edwards has been residing here with his family for the past two weeks under the name of Jerry Lessor.

The suspect was being held in City Jail pending arraignment today before U.S. Commissioner Charles L. Rudd of Camden.

If you like to "doctor" baked beans, there are a good many savory ingredients with which you can heat the beans. Choose among chopped onion and green pepper, sliced ripe olives, bits of crisply cooked bacon, finely sliced celery.

DiSalle Cites $6 Million Need In Mental Health

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle equates what he believes to be the amount needed to improve the present mental health and retardation program in Ohio with that spent last year in the state for lipstick.

The figure is $6 million, DiSalle said Tuesday in a campaign tour through Stark County.

"If a child is born well, money would be spent for his education. If a child is born sick, shouldn't the same money be used to pay for care for him: But because he is sick, we save that money now."

DiSalle, running, for re-election against Republican State Auditor James A. Rhodes, defended his administration, saying:

"What we have done we have done with deep study and reason and the reasons will stand up."

He called Ohio's financial situation sound, compared with the bonded indebtedness of other states.

Besides Massillon, DiSalle made stops at Malone College in Canton, Canal Fulton, Brewster, Beach City and Navarre.

Owner Penalized On Lot Condition

SALINEVILLE — An E. Main St. lot owner, cited for permitting weeds and stagnant water on his property, was fined a total of $30 and costs Tuesday night by Mayor Stanley Fitch.

Pete Owens was fined $5 and costs on a charge of failure to clear noxious weeds from an E. Main St. lot after he pleaded guilty. Mayor Fitch said the fine was the minimum because Owens cleared the lot yesterday.

He was fined $25 and costs—with $20 suspended—on a charge of permitting stagnant water to collect. Owens, who pleaded not guilty, was given the suspended fine on condition a foundation of a former house — burned a few years ago — be either filled or properly drained.

Rotarians Hear Club Aide

Many Opportunities Seen In World Understanding

Opportunities to promote world understanding are without parallel today and accomplishments in international fellowship can be realized if Rotarians "kindle the spark within," William J. Hagenlocher of North Canton told the East Liverpool Rotary Club Tuesday.

Governor of District 665, Hagenlocher addressed the club at its noon luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel and presided at a club assembly later in the afternoon.

Speaking before one of 37 clubs in his district, Hagenlocher cited opportunities today for Rotarians to improve understanding between the 128 countries and geographical regions of the free world where Rotary is represented.

"Dollars contributed to the Rotary Foundation to provide fellowships for college graduates to study in other countries shine brighter than the mightiest rockets," the district governor declared.

Over $4 million has been contributed thus far to enable 1,597 young people to study in foreign countries under Rotary Foundation fellowships, he said.

"These fellowships provide for a free exchange of ideas between the students and their host countries, thus greatly improving the understanding of our neighbors' customs, problems and way of life," Hagenlocher said.

There are also opportunities for local service, he added, and urged members to recognize their responsibility, support the club president, and tackle committee assignments with enthusiasm.

The district governor complimented the club for its club service, and added "your fellowship is good." He asked all new members to be present for a district conference May 3-5 in Canton.

Hagenlocher, a field engineer with Portland Cement Assn., was introduced by Sidney C. Porter Jr., president. The district governor met Tuesday morning with Porter and Harold B. Barth, secretary.

Navy Balking At Argentina 'Strong Man'

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Emerging as the strong man after the army revolt that shook Argentina, Alvaro Alsogaray took the first step Tuesday night toward restoring civilian authority in high positions. He was immediately balked by the navy.

The economics minister, in his dual role of acting interior minister, announced that Inspector General Nicolas Jose Rodriguez would become chief of the federal police department. He named inspector Fernando Sobrado as deputy chief.

The announcement set the navy seething. The navy has been making the decision on appointments for top posts in the strategic federal police since overthrowing dictator Juan D. Peron in 1955.

In the face of rising navy resentment, Alsogaray temporarily withdrew the appointments.

The navy is a power in Argentine military circles, and it has given its allegiance only reluctantly to President Jose Maria Guido since the end of last week's fighting.

The Rev. Paul Brookes of the Emmanuel Mission near Chester spoke on "Morality" at a meeting of the Men's Fellowship Tuesday night at the Westminster United Presbyterian Church of Chester.

Prayers were given by Robert Smith, program chairman, Fred Hood and R. M. McFarland. Clifton Huff, president, read the Scripture.

Plans were discussed for a membership drive and for "Laymen Sunday" Oct. 21 at which men of the church will conduct worship. A family church dinner will be held in November to honor the church choirs.

Ralph Wolfe was named chairman for the fall cleaning of the sanctuary and chairman of transportation for out -of - town meetings of church young people.

Lunch was served 20 by Harry Lewis and Jonathan Allison. Next meeting is Oct. 23.

Pughtown Class Sets Bake Sale

The Friendship Class of the Fairview Presbyterian Church of Pughtown will hold a bake sale this afternoon at 2 at Harl Stover's service station.

Plans were made at a meeting of the class Monday night with Mrs. Irene Houk. A rummage sale was planned Nov. 5-10 in the Halpate building in East End. Proceeds from both projects will be used for the church.

Mrs. Lucille Miller, president, presided. Discussion was held on plans to serve dinner Oct. 29 to a new Ruritan Club being organized. Mrs. Jane Herron led devotions, and the class read the invocation in unison.

Lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Betty Mayhew. Next meeting is Oct. 15 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. Miller and members are to bring material for making aprons.

Man Admits Two Murders

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police say Harold L. Piggott, 39, has admitted committing two unsolved slayings in the past year.

Piggott was charged Tuesday with first-degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Mrs. William F. McGee, 31, on Sept. 30, 1961. He admitted Tuesday night striking and smothering a West Side woman last May 20, Capt. David E. Kerr said. She was identified as Mrs. Myrtle Fray, 63.

Originally, Piggott was charged with entering the home of Mrs. Jennie Petzoldt, 20, to commit a felony.

Given a lie dector test, Piggott was asked routinely about unsolved murders in general and "the needle almost flew off" the polygraph, said detective Stephen Hospodar

Detectives said they then connected Piggott with the death of Mrs. McGee, who was attacked on the side porch of her home. Piggott took police to the scene of the slaying and told them how he had put his hand over her mouth and then stabbed her when she began to scream.

Under further questioning, Piggott admitted assaulting a white female last May in Lake Avenue apartment, Capt. Kerr said. Detectives took him to the area where Mrs. Fray had been slain and Piggott led them to her apartment building.

Committee Head Named In Levy Drive

Robert Brooks, communications consultant for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., will head the committee seeking passage of two school levies at the Nov. 6 general election.

The Board of Education is asking voters to renew a 3-mill levy for 10 years and approve a new 2-mill levy. Both will be for general operating expenses.

Brooks' appointment as general chairman was announced today by Edwin Maloney and H. J. English, co-chairman of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools.

Other chairman named were William Webber and Harry Martin, publicity, and Mrs. Dale Franklin, Mrs. Glenn Hall and Mrs. James Massey, speakers' bureau.

Plans for the campaign were outlined at a meeting Monday night.

Fact sheets outlining the need for school funds will be distributed and the Speakers' Bureau will arrange for speakers to discuss the schools' financial position at meetings of various civic organizations and clubs.

A house canvass also will be made the week prior to the election to distribute handbills urging support for the two levies.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Ozarks Remain In These Hillbillies

Taking a family of hillbillies out of their primitive Ozark shack and plunking them down to live in the middle of Beverly Hills sounds like the corniest gimmick to come down the pike since "Truth or Consequences."

Hal Humphrey

The nicest thing about this brand of corn, however, is creator Paul Henning's refusal to let his characters become wise-cracking, knee-slapping comics. In the premiere episode of "Beverly Hillbillies" tonight (9 p.m., Channel 8), Cousin Pearl (Bea Benaderet) is trying to convince Jed Clapett (Buddy Ebsen) that since he now is oil-rich, he can leave his remote Ozark existence for the comforts of "Californy."

JED: You think I oughta move?

PEARL: Jed, how can you even ask? Look around you! You're eight miles from the nearest neighbor. You're overrun with skunks, possums, coyotes and bobcats. You got kerosene lamps for light, a wood stove to cook on winter and summer. You're drinkin' home-made moonshine, washin' with home-made lye soap and your bathroom is 50 feet from the house. And you ask should you move!

JED (very soberly): Yeah—I guess you're right. A man'd be a dang fool to leave all this.

LATER in the half hour when the time came for Jed, Granny, Elly and Big Jethro to take off for Californy in their modified flatbed truck, I found myself sharing Jed's doubts about the advantages of a Beverly Hills manse over his crude but homey Ozark hovel.

Fans of Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners" used to complain once in awhile over the absolutely stark, and maybe even dirty, tenement flat they occupied. To me, that two-plate gas burner, the rickety ice-box and the flimsy commode actually set off Ralph and Alice Dramden's frustrating, but funny (for the audience), scramble to carve out a little real living on a bus driver's pay.

Writer-producer Henning feels he is furnishing himself with more comedy springboards by surrounding his hillbillies with the posh accoutrements which come with a Beverly Hills estate, and he probably is right.

SOME DAY, though, I hope he will do a season of shows with his hill folk in their natural habitat. Al Capp has done right well with Li'l Abner in that milieu.

It's been a few years since Henning has done TV. He wrote for George Burns and Gracie for 10 years, produced and wrote Dennis Day's TV show the year it was opposite "I Love Lucy," then came up with the Bob Cummings Show—the successful one which had Bob as a semi-lecherous photographer for five years.

After a spate of movie writing, Henning—a slight man who is as serious about his work as any bank vice president—decided TV audiences were ready again "to just laugh."

HIS OWN beginnings were in Independence, Mo., and it was Boy Scout treks into the Ozards which Henning says inspired his long-standing desire to do something about hillbillies.

"They never think they do anything funny, and that's the way I'm keeping them in the series," says Henning.

He wrote the first 11 episodes himself, and even the theme music and lyrics ("The Ballad of Jed Clampett") to make sure that his hillbillies weren't corrupted. Henning insists on supervising the publicity, so that his actors' images in the show aren't cheapened and distorted.

-:-

"SOMEBODY thought it would be a good idea to do a magazine layout of pictures with Buddy Ebsen on his small yacht," Henning recalls. "I screamed. It was too out of character for the series, and the people I know in the Midwest take their TV characters very seriously."

He was even more upset when he saw that in the first episode Elly (Donna Douglas) was too neatly coiffeured and eye-pencilled.

"I was ill that day, and didn't get to the set, but later I felt like killing that hairdresser."

It's very possible that Henning can keep his hillbillies in character while residing in Beverly Hills, and I hope he can, because I agree that we viewers need some genuine laughs about now.

Tug Of Muscle Pulls Off Bulges

"Oh, to be free of the bra-line bulge and the annoying girdle top roll!" This lament comes from a middle-aged homemaker who asks if 43 is too late.

Ida Jean Kain

Too late? Today the 40's are really young middle age.

Do you like to stretch? Then get the stretch habit. When you awaken in the morning, strech, making this a long drawn-out pull. Stretch—pull . . . hold. Release slowly. This is a delightful way to start the day since stretching is a natural and gives the circulation a powerful prod.

Before you get out of bed—stretch. Push down hard with heels, reach out sidewards with arms and s-t-r-e-t-c-h, from tip to toe. Twist and turn and pull... it feels wonderful. Release the stretch action slowly. Rest a moment, then follow through with another leisurely stretch...and again.

TO BANISH the girdle top roll and the bra-line bulge, the whole body needs toning. It's surprising how well the tone of the muscles can be maintained by regular stretching exercises.

Follow through with a stand-up stretch. The midriff just loves to snuggle down into the waist, so center the up - stretch action through the entire midsection. Pull the waist out of the hips and the ribs up away from the waist. Even the short - waisted figure need not appear dumpy!

Stretch — bend — hold. Holding the muscle contraction helps to increase muscle tone. Hold to a slow count of six, then release slowly. Repeat three to five times, bending to alternate sides, always holding the contraction. Breathe freely.

A homemaker praises this ball-bouncing routine to banish bra-top bulges and tone arm muscles as well. Get a new tennis ball with a lot of bounce then, using both arms, bounce the ball hard so it will come to about chest level . . . bounce, bounce, bounce.

START WITH one minute, bouncing about 100 times to a minute. She keeps a ball upstairs and another one down, and does this exercise twice daily.

An in-a-doorway stretching bar affords excellent exercise. Adjust the bar so you can reach it comfortably when standing on toes... then stretch several times each day.

Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet, "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

South Beaver Association To Air Township Proposal

Hanover Township's move to regulate subdivisions has drawn commendation of the South Beaver County Civic Association, which invites Hanover voters and taxpayers to air the subject at the association's meeting Thursday at 8 p. m. at South Side Schools near Hookstown.

The proposed regulations, which are embodied in a resolution now pending before the township Board of Supervisors, were distributed and discussed at a recent meeting of the Executive Board of the civic group at the home of Charles D. Barker of Route 18.

In the general discussion several features of the proposed enactment were emphasized.

It is not a planning and zoning measure but rather a set of rules under which the supervisors would protect present owners from undesirable developments.

The supervisors are proceeding deliberately and have no plan to vote on the measure until ample opportunity has been given to all interested parties to be heard.

The Hanover supervisors will be receptive to any changes proposed in good faith by Hanover residents.

The measure had its origin in an inquiry from out-of-state developers who were considering purchase of a tract in the southern portion of Hanover township bordering on the Washington County line. To date, no action has followed the inquiry.

"It seems clear," the civic board was told by William Littell, president, "that the Hanover supervisors are preparing to take this action before any changes occur which might have adverse effect on present owners, and for this they deserve commendation. Too many communities wait till the damage has begun."

Use the same procedure when unmolding a fish loaf as you do when removing a meat loaf from its pan. Loosen edges with spatula and then invert on hot serving plate.

STEEL JOBS ARE GOOD JOBS

With a full day's work behind them Robert Loughley, Bill Shawl, E. G. Tennant and Dick Green wash up before leaving the plant for home.

They are employes of Midland's Roll Shop and together they represent more than 32 years as Crucible employes. These are years of days spent helping to make steel products which are essential to all of us and which help to make our lives better and more enjoyable.

The satisfaction of doing important work is one reason why steel jobs are good jobs. Another is that steel employes earn high wages, higher than those of workers in all manufacturing industries and they receive good benefits.

Steel jobs, too, are safe jobs. By extensive use of safety equipment and through training programs in safe practices for employes, the steel industry has developed into one of the safest of all industries.

These are a few of the good reasons why steelworkers tend to make steel their career. More than 50 per cent of them have 10 to 25 years service with the same company.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Ozarks Remain In These Hillbillies

Taking a family of hillbillies out of their primitive Ozark shack and plunking them down to live in the middle of Beverly Hills sounds like the corniest gimmick to come down the pike since "Truth or Consequences."

Hal Humphrey

The nicest thing about this brand of corn, however, is creator Paul Henning's refusal to let his characters become wise-cracking, knee-slapping comics. In the premiere episode of "Beverly Hillbillies" tonight (9 p.m., Channel 8), Cousin Pearl (Bea Benadaret) is trying to convince Jed Clapett (Buddy Ebsen) that since he now is oil-rich, he can leave his remote Ozark existence for the comforts of "Californy."

JED: You think I oughta move?

PEARL: Jed, how can you even ask? Look around you! You're eight miles from the nearest neighbor. You're overrun with skunks, possums, coyotes and bobcats. You got kerosene lamps for light, a wood stove to cook on winter and summer. You're drinkin' home-made moonshine, washin' with home-made lye soap and your bathroom is 50 feet from the house. And you ask should you move!

JED (very soberly): Yeah—I guess you're right. A man'd be a dang fool to leave all this.

LATER in the half hour when the time came for Jed, Granny, Elly and Big Jethro to take off for Californy in their modified flatbed truck, I found myself sharing Jed's doubts about the advantages of a Beverly Hills manse over his crude but homey Ozark hovel.

Fans of Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners" used to complain once in awhile over the absolutely stark, and maybe even dirty, tenement flat they occupied. To me, that two-plate gas burner, the rickety ice-box and the flimsy commode actually set off Ralph and Alice Dramden's frustrating, but funny (for the audience), scramble to carve out a little real living on a bus driver's pay.

Writer-producer Henning feels he is furnishing himself with more comedy springboards by surrounding his hillbillies with the posh accoutrements which come with a Beverly Hills estate, and he probably is right.

SOME DAY, though, I hope he will do a season of shows with his hill folk in their natural habitat. Al Capp has done right well with Li'l Abner in that milieu.

It's been a few years since Henning has done TV. He wrote for George Burns and Gracie for 10 years, produced and wrote Dennis Day's TV show the year it was opposite "I Love Lucy," then came up with the Bob Cummings Show—the successful one which had Bob as a semi-lecherous photographer for five years.

After a spate of movie writing, Henning—a slight man who is as serious about his work as any bank vice president—decided TV audiences were ready again "to just laugh."

HIS OWN beginnings were in Independence, Mo., and it was Boy Scout treks into the Ozards which Henning says inspired his long-standing desire to do something about hillbillies.

"They never think they do anything funny, and that's the way I'm keeping them in the series," says Henning.

He wrote the first 11 episodes himself, and even the theme music and lyrics ("The Ballad of Jed Clampett") to make sure that his hillbillies weren't corrupted. Henning insists on supervising the publicity, so that his actors' images in the show aren't cheapened and distorted.

-:-

"SOMEBODY thought it would be a good idea to do a magazine layout of pictures with Buddy Ebsen on his small yacht," Henning recalls. "I screamed. It was too out of character for the series, and the people I know in the Midwest take their TV characters very seriously."

He was even more upset when he saw that in the first episode Elly (Donna Douglas) was too neatly coiffeured and eye-pencilled.

"I was ill that day, and didn't get to the set, but later I felt like killing that hairdresser."

It's very possible that Henning can keep his hillbillies in character while residing in Beverly Hills, and I hope he can, because I agree that we viewers need some genuine laughs about now.

STEEL JOBS ARE GOOD JOBS

With a full day's work behind them Robert Loughley, Bill Shawl, E. G. Tennant and Dick Green wash up before leaving the plant for home.

They are employes of Midland's Roll Shop and together they represent more than 32 years as Crucible employes. These are years of days spent helping to make steel products which are essential to all of us and which help to make our lives better and more enjoyable.

The satisfaction of doing important work is one reason why steel jobs are good jobs. Another is that steel employes earn high wages, higher than those of workers in all manufacturing industries and they receive good benefits.

Steel jobs, too, are safe jobs. By extensive use of safety equipment and through training programs in safe practices for employes, the steel industry has developed into one of the safest of all industries.

These are a few of the good reasons why steelworkers tend to make steel their career. More than 50 per cent of them have 10 to 25 years service with the same company.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Regarding the inquiry in your column on the build-up of waxes on furniture: I assume this has to do with furniture waxes and not a self-polishing wax for floors (the kind that dries shiny), which is never recommended for furniture.

(Undoubtedly your readers notice a smeary, streaky or dull cloudy look and assume there is a buildup of wax. The problem could be caused by one or more of the following:

1. Use of waxes and oil products interchangeably (they don't get along).

2. Not removing heavy deposits of oil polishes before switching to wax.

3. Accumulation of a greasy film from cooking and heating.

These greasy films are one of the most common causes of a smeary look on furniture. People don't realize that the same film which makes windows messy also settles on other smooth exposed surfaces such as furniture, woodwork, metal articles, etc. . . .

THE SOLUTION to this problem is simple: Just use a furniture wax which does a good cleaning job. Cleaning waxes — to do a thorough job — should be applied generously to a small area (usually one or two square feet) and rubbed to loosen the greasy dirt . . . then wiped dry immediately with a clean cloth while the wax is moist and the soil is loosened.

Waxes which one might use on woodwork can be removed by washing the surface with turpentine, naptha or benzine. (Follow the directions on each container.) The trick in doing this is to rub a small area briskly . . . using the cleaner generously . . . then wipe dry immediately while the wax is loosened. Use plenty of clean dry clothes for wiping.

LUCILLE BUSH.

Spot Remover

DEAR HELOISE: Why can't I get my white pillow cases clean? And what causes the tiny black spots and yellowing?

YOUR FRIEND.

The Home Laundry Manufacturer's Association tells us that this is usually caused from a combination of perspiration, hair oils and creams.

They suggest that we pre-treat yellowed areas with a soft brush and undiluted liquid detergent. Follow with a regular hot water wash and thorough rinsing. If necessary, soak pillow cases in a diluted household bleach and then launder again.

A regular five minute hot prewash with detergent will help prevent yellowing.

Black spots are the tiny particle of oil that collect on fabrics! If wash water is not hot enough or soft enough, a conditioning wash (the same as for grayness) will remove them.

HELOISE.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: Some household problems are never eliminated . . . they just keep running in and out all day!

K. VIRGINIA.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's the easiest way I know of to clean those glass casserole dishes!

I don't have a dishwasher, but I buy dishwasher - type detergents. As soon as the casserole is emptied . . . I put about a tablespoonful of dishwasher soap in it and fill it up with warm water, and let it set overnight.

Presto! In the morning the casserole is spotless and just as white as my white net nylon dishcloth.

It works!

Ohio Escapee Object Of Cincinnati Search

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Columbus, Ohio, man who fled from a federal marshal Monday has apparently eluded a wide search spread by greater Cincinnati police and FBI agents.

He was identified as Ralph Ronald Jarensky Jr., 22, who got away while awaiting trial at Covington, Ky., on an FBI charge of transporting a stolen car from Huntington, W.Va., to Ashland, Ky.

The FBI said Jarensky was a prime suspect as the man who held up a Covington cafe Tuesday and forced a cab driver, Albery Howard, 39, to drive him at gunpoint to Cincinnati, taking along a waitress, Virginia Rose, 40, as hostage.

The two were released unharmed in Cincinnati.

Wilmington Set For U.S. Plow Tests Thursday

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — This Clinton County city, in the heart of lush Southwest Ohio farming country, began bursting at the seams today with farmers, farm experts, farm implement dealers and even guys who wouldn't know the first principle of operating a plow.

The occasion is the opening Thursday of the National Plowing Contest and the fourth annual Farm-Orama exhibit.

Sponsors are predicting as many as 150,000 spectators if the weather is good.

The National Plowing Contest will run through Friday.

The state contest at which Ohio's entrants will be determined for the 1963 National will be held Saturday. Winners in the national event will go to the international contest.

The National Plowing Contest will have state champions in level land and contour plowing from Indiana, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Ohio, Michigan and South Dakota plus the 1961 champions and runners-up.

The final National shindig will come at 2 p.m. Friday when the winners are announced formally and Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman speaks.

Woman Convicted Of Slaying Husband

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Young, 37, has been convicted of second-degree murder for the shotgun slaying of her husband, Grover.

Mrs. Young had admitted shooting her husband, putting his body in the trunk of the family car and leaving the car parked in a lot behind the Lorain police station.

Her attorneys, in closing arguments to the jury, described Young, 39, as a drunkard, a wife beater and a sex deviate.

The prosecution accused Mrs. Young of telling seven conflicting stories and said the woman stood to gain more than $30,000 in insurance as a result of her husband's death.

The jury deliberated five hours Tuesday before finding Mrs. Young guilty as charged. She faces life imprisonment, with possibility of parole in 10 years.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

Dear Heloise: Regarding the inquiry in your column on the build-up of waxes on furniture: I assume this has to do with furniture waxes and not a self-polishing wax for floors (the kind that dries shiny), which is never recommended for furniture.

(Undoubtedly your readers notice a smeary, streaky or dull cloudy look and assume there is a buildup of wax. The problem could be caused by one or more of the following:

1. Use of waxes and oil products interchangeably (they don't get along).

3. Accumulation of a greasy film from cooking and heating.

These greasy films are one of the most common causes of a smeary look on furniture. People don't realize that the same film which makes windows messy also settles on other smooth exposed surfaces such as furniture, woodwork, metal articles, etc. . . .

THE SOLUTION to this problem is simple: Just use a furniture wax which does a good cleaning job. Waxes which one might use on woodwork can be removed by washing the surface with turpentine, naptha or benzine. (Follow the directions on each container.) The trick in doing this is to rub a small area briskly . . . using the cleaner generously . . . then wipe dry immediately while the wax is loosened. Use plenty of clean dry clothes for wiping.

DEAR HELOISE: Why can't I get my white pillow cases clean? And what causes the tiny black spots and yellowing?

YOUR FRIEND.

The Home Laundry Manufacturer's Association tells us that this is usually caused from a combination of perspiration, hair oils and creams.

They suggest that we pre-treat yellowed areas with a soft brush and undiluted liquid detergent. Follow with a regular hot water wash and thorough rinsing. If necessary, soak pillow cases in a diluted household bleach and then launder again.

A regular five minute hot prewash with detergent will help prevent yellowing.

Black spots are the tiny particle of oil that collect on fabrics! If wash water is not hot enough or soft enough, a conditioning wash (the same as for grayness) will remove them.

QUESTION: Why did the whalemen cry, "Thar she blows?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: High up where the masts of the old time whaleships scraped the sky, there were hoops fastened for the lookouts. When (1) such a lookout saw the misty spout of a whale far off on the horizan, he shouted, "Thar she blows," meaning, "There's a whale spouting," as loud as he could, so everyone on the ship below could hear. If the whale poked his whole head out of the water, the lookout cried, "Thar she breeches." Then the whalemen lowered the 30 foot "whaleboats" which every whale ship carried and went off to attack the whale with harpoon and lance (2). After the whale was killed, it was brought alongside the ship, and the heavy outer layer of "blubber" was peeled off (3). It was taken aboard, chopped into smaller pieces and boiled in the "try-works" to extract the valuable whale oil, used in early days as fuel for lamps. Whalemen chased two types of whales. The sperm whale (4) was the more important, since it had more oil. The right whale (5) had many strips of "whalebone" inside its mouth. The animals used the strips to sieve out the small marine animals which were its foods.

How Can I?

Q. How can I cover up some tack and nail holes in light-colored wallpaper?

A. You can do this with a little dry cornstarch. Just press a bit of it into the hole, then rub your fingers lightly over the surface to smooth it. The holes should then have practically disappeared.

Q. How can I hasten the task of squeezing lemon juice?

A. Instead of squeezing the juice every time a recipe calls for it, why not extract the juice of a dozen lemons at a time and keep it in a tightly - covered glass jar in your refrigerator? It will prove a great convenience.

Q. How can I make a quicker job of defrosting frozen foods?

A. Try standing them in front of an electric fan.

Q. How can I prevent moths from feasting on my wool blankets while they are stored away?

A. When laundering these blankets, prior to putting them away, add a cup of moth balls to the last rinse water.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Accuracy Very Important In Spelling

Yesterday I told you how I helped a boy when 13 and 14 to be a better speller. The program was simple. Daily he was set to learn to spell accurately 50 words, 10 in each unit. I pronounced each word clearly as he looked at them on a list and I explained the meaning of those with which he was not familiar. Then he pronounced and spelled aloud each word on the list five times as he looked at it. After he had done so with the ten words, he silently went over them to make sure he could spell each before he said he was ready for me to test him. As I pronounced each word, he wrote it and spelled it aloud. He practically never made an error on any one of the 10 words.

Dr. Garry Meyers

EACH EVENING within an hour he thus mastered a total of 50 words, spelling all without error evening after evening. Most parents would do well to limit the period to 20 or 30 minutes an evening.

I didn't tell you yesterday that the one problem which lingered over the weeks, but grew less and less serious, was his making an occasional error in spelling the word while studying it. His old habit of looking away and trying to spell a word before really learning it caused him to make an occasional mistake.

I consider this the most serious problem in helping a child learn to spell. He is too eager to try himself out too soon. He often wants to do it before he has mastered the spelling of the word.

In nearly all spelling books the child is told to look at the word, pronounce it, tell what it means, then to spell it only once while looking at it. Then he is told to look away and write it or spell it aloud. Here is where he can even teach himself to spell it wrong!

NEVER SHOULD he be encouraged to try to spell a word aloud or to write it after looking at it only once. He should pronounce and spell the word several times while looking at it before trying himself out.

When you help your child in the early or later grades to learn to spell, keep in mind this very simple principle — that he should never practice spelling a word wrong. Therefore, put the emphasis on his repeating the spelling of the word several times while looking right at it before he tries to spell it from memory.

It's better for him to master 5 or 10 words an evening than to attack 20 or 50, getting some of them wrong.

One more thing — when your child prepares written work at home, assure him that at any time you will be glad to spell a word for him or look up its spelling with him in the dictionary. Try to cultivate in him a spelling conscience, a wish never to spell a word wrong when he writes.

My bulletin, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Ohio's Promised $176 Million For Highway System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal government has promised Ohio another $176,952,100 — the largest amount yet—for use in building four-lane divided expressways of the Interstate Highway System.

Ohio's Department of Highways can plan how to use the money now, but it can't touch it until the fiscal year starting next July 1. For the present fiscal year, the State Highway Department has $163,340,000 to work with.

Under terms of the 1956 Interstate Highway Act, the federal government pays 90 cents of every dollar of basic construction cost. The 41,000 - mile superhighway network is scheduled to be completed in 1972 and link every major city in the United States.

In the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964, Ohio is scheduled to receive $183 million. Thereafter, the scheduled amounts are $190 million (July 1, 1965), $197 million (July 1, 1966) and $204 million (July 1, 1967).

EACH EVENING within an hour he thus mastered a total of 50 words, spelling all without error evening after evening. Most parents would do well to limit the period to 20 or 30 minutes an evening.

I didn't tell you yesterday that the one problem which lingered over the weeks, but grew less and less serious, was his making an occasional error in spelling the word while studying it. His old habit of looking away and trying to spell a word before really learning it caused him to make an occasional mistake.

I consider this the most serious problem in helping a child learn to spell. He is too eager to try himself out too soon. He often wants to do it before he has mastered the spelling of the word.

In nearly all spelling books the child is told to look at the word, pronounce it, tell what it means, then to spell it only once while looking at it. Then he is told to look away and write it or spell it aloud. Here is where he can even teach himself to spell it wrong!

NEVER SHOULD he be encouraged to try to spell a word aloud or to write it after looking at it only once. He should pronounce and spell the word several times while looking at it before trying himself out.

When you help your child in the early or later grades to learn to spell, keep in mind this very simple principle — that he should never practice spelling a word wrong. Therefore, put the emphasis on his repeating the spelling of the word several times while looking right at it before he tries to spell it from memory.

It's better for him to master 5 or 10 words an evening than to attack 20 or 50, getting some of them wrong.

One more thing — when your child prepares written work at home, assure him that at any time you will be glad to spell a word for him or look up its spelling with him in the dictionary. Try to cultivate in him a spelling conscience, a wish never to spell a word wrong when he writes.

Ohio's Promised $176 Million For Highway System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal government has promised Ohio another $176,952,100 — the largest amount yet—for use in building four-lane divided expressways of the Interstate Highway System.

Ohio's Department of Highways can plan how to use the money now, but it can't touch it until the fiscal year starting next July 1. For the present fiscal year, the State Highway Department has $163,340,000 to work with.

Under terms of the 1956 Interstate Highway Act, the federal government pays 90 cents of every dollar of basic construction cost. The 41,000 - mile superhighway network is scheduled to be completed in 1972 and link every major city in the United States.

In the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964, Ohio is scheduled to receive $183 million. Thereafter, the scheduled amounts are $190 million (July 1, 1965), $197 million (July 1, 1966) and $204 million (July 1, 1967).
